Letter of the month
wins this great kitchen pack
from The LifeStyle Channel.
Keep the letters coming for your chance to win!

Letter of the month

Don't know why I didn't hook up to FOXTEL years ago.

As a shift worker, FOXTEL is ideal for me. I can catch up on the latest news whenever I want to, I have sport whenever I want it and, because the documentary channels repeat the main programs, I can usually catch anything I want to watch whenever I am off shift.

I have the Big Value deal and it's an absolute bargain.

K. Thresher, via email

Whodunit fan

I just wanted to thank Hallmark for giving us Agatha Christie's Poirot and the movie-length Hercule Poirot on Saturday nights. I won't miss any of these.

Will Agatha Christie's Miss Marple make an appearance too?

CK, via email

Stay tuned: Agatha Christie's Miss Marple is coming to Hallmark in November.

Planning ahead

As a long-term subscriber to FOXTEL, it is pleasing to note that you actually listen to your viewers. Last year, after many letters, the magazine was restored to its former glory, and again this year, after the full movie listing was removed from the monthly magazine, after many reader complaints you have ensured it is located on the FOXTEL website.

Now, can we ask for access to next month's movie listing from earlier than the second of the month? If the schedule is produced in the magazine and distributed in the last 10 days of the month, then surely we should be able to see this full listing on the web???

D. Caplin, via email

New York blues

I am writing to you again with some more criticism.

Wednesday night, I tune into NYPD Blue on D 113 at 11pm and what do I see: an old Season 2 episode with Bobby just being diagnosed with his fatal heart disease.

Please explain to me why you do this. I do not want to see Season 2 again.

D. Atkins, via email

A-League world class

I would like to congratulate FOXTEL for having the foresight and courage to secure the rights to show the new A-League Football (soccer). I watched the first round of matches over the weekend of August 26th-28th, and I was absolutely blown away by the skills shown by the players and the size and atmosphere of the crowds.

Also, the professional telecast from FOXTEL was first class, and was comparable (if not better) to any telecast I've seen from around the globe. Robbie Slater is a born natural for television and his football knowledge is outstanding.

I'm now looking forward to a great season of A-League football, with a professional telecast and production from FOXTEL.

R. Eckardt

Footy fan and subtitles

Finally the English Premier League is back on FOX Sports. This is real football, not like other games where they use their hands more than their foot.

Any chance of one of the sports channels showing the Scottish Premier League? A lot of Scots out there would love to see it back on FOXTEL.

Being a deaf guy, I just wanna say how smashing it is to have the subtitles on some of the channels. Will the movies on TV1 or FOX Classics have subtitles somewhere in the future?

B. Allen, via email

FOX Classics is currently not an enabled closed captioned channel.

Bring back TNA

I am currently a subscriber to FOXTEL Digital and I am a hardcore wrestling fan. I love watching WWE on FOX8 and Hulk Hogan's reality TV show, Hogan Knows Best.

I know that you used to show TNA Impact, but please bring it back. It seems like they have really got their act together.

Also, I would just like to ask if the range of +2 channels will become larger. There are still some great channels that don't have +2.

A. Chalmers, via email

There are no immediate plans for further +2 channels, however it is under consideration for future enhancements to the service.

Finishing as runner-up on Australian Idol 2 may have been disappointing on the night for Anthony Callea but it doesn't seem to have hurt his bid for pop stardom one little bit

Centre stage

His debut single, a cover of Andrea Bocelli's "The Prayer", became the fastest and highest selling Australian single of all time. Anthony Callea's self-titled debut album also topped the charts, going double platinum. The challenge, as Idol contestants worldwide have discovered, is to maintain the momentum beyond the blaze of publicity surrounding the show. But having dreamt of being a pop star since childhood, Callea is putting everything into using the Idol springboard to make it happen.

He recently toured nationally and, although some critics were underwhelmed, fans were rapturous, showing their devotion by flinging knickers onto the stage. Callea admits the lingerie ended up in the crew truck, "bigger sizes to the left, smaller sizes to the right".

One of his largest concerts was recorded live at Melbourne's Palais Theatre and screens on FOX8 this month. Callea fans have the opportunity to see the star perform songs from his debut album; plus, he is also interviewed by music guru Molly Meldrum. For Callea it was a pretty special gig, given the supportive hometown crowd who, he says, "really got into it". He likes what he's seen of the recording and says he doesn't mind watching his own performances – the singing, anyway. "The time I cringe is where I start talking. I don't like listening to myself talk."

Chatting to FOXTEL Magazine, the 22-year-old is good-natured and polite. He seems pretty savvy about the music industry and determined to try to make it on his own terms. Music has been central to his life since the age of three, when he asked his parents if he could have singing lessons. Growing up in Werribee, he began singing and dancing at the Johnny Young Talent School aged five, topped the state with a perfect score for solo music performance in his VCE, and by 17 was working professionally as a singer and singing teacher.

"You've got to stay in touch with the goss, c'mon"

Voted out of Australian Idol 2 initially, he made it into the final 12 as the judges' wildcard. What clinched his berth in the grand final was his performance of "The Prayer". "It got to a point where I had to do something completely different," he says. "I was being criticised each week that I didn't have any substance." (Mark Holden famously dubbed him "the plastic fantastic"). No-one was overly supportive of the idea but Callea went with his gut instinct and wowed 'em.

Now, thanks to Idol, he's living the dream and loving it. Asked about highs and lows, he says, "there's not many negatives. You have to grow a thick skin because not everyone's nice out there. Not everyone's a fan but you can't get affected by what you read all the time."

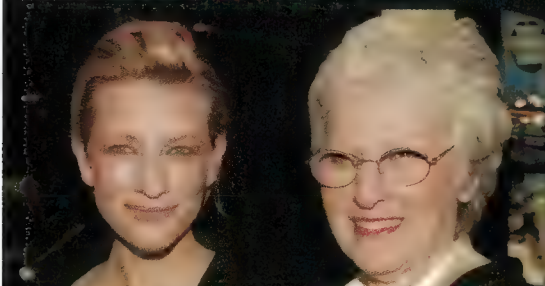

So he reads it, then? "I don't go out and get it but I come across it. You've got to stay in touch with the goss, c'mon. 'What are they saying about me this week?!'" Jo Litson ■

Martha, Martha, Martha!

Homemaking heroine and insider trader Martha Stewart is finally free, and she's got things to do. She goes from the big house to your house with not one but two new reality programs

Domestic diva Martha Stewart didn't let five months in federal prison keep her from working on her "to do" list. The 64-year-old is now the star of two hot new shows – The Apprentice: Martha Stewart, a reality TV show that demonstrates her considerable business acumen, and Martha, a daily lifestyle series on How To Channel.

Stewart held a press conference on the set of the lifestyle series: a sprawling dream of a Manhattan loft done up in signature Stewart tones, complete with fully functioning kitchen and garden.

"We have taken our subject matter of 'how-to' to, I think, a new level with this show," says Stewart. "To be able to interact with guests as well as with the live audience will enable us to loosen up a little bit."

"I think it will be distinguished from other daytime shows... it's not just a talk show. I don't see a couch anywhere. I think I banned couches from the set. So we're not going to be sitting a lot. We're going to be doing a lot."

■ Martha screens 4pm daily on How To Channel (D 118)

Luciano Pavarotti gave his final operatic performance at New York's Metropolitan Opera in 2004 in the role of Cavaradossi in Tosca. Now it's time to say goodbye to the concert arena. The singer, who turns 70 in November, arrives in Australia this month to farewell friends and colleagues before he hangs up his hat as one of the world's most beloved tenors. As a tribute, Ovation is screening a festival of special Luciano performances, including the Australian premiere documentary Pavarotti at Llangollen, October 19 at 7.30pm, the Australian premiere of Pavarotti in Central Park, October 23 at 7.30pm, and Pavarotti Returns to Llangollen: Concert, October 26 at 7.30pm.

Spain's teen sensation Rafael Nadal serves up a treat for tennis lovers

Spanish armada set to fire

At the ATP Masters Series in Madrid, which you can see exclusively on FOX SPORTS this month, expect powerful tennis and passionate Spanish support.

Spain has become a hotbed of tennis. Not only does the country have five players in the men's top 20 rankings, but the sport is just as popular and as fanatically supported as football. Add to this the eagerly awaited appearance of 19-year-old Spanish sensation Rafael Nadal, and this all makes for a fascinating event in Madrid.

"Nadal is the hottest player in tennis right now," says FOX SPORTS' veteran tennis expert, Wally Masur, of a player who this year has rocketed up the world rankings to reach the number two spot behind Swiss superstar Roger Federer. "Rafael is charismatic, marketable and athletic," he adds.

Masur, the Aussie Davis Cup coach, also believes that the rest of the so-called "Spanish armada" will be hard to beat in Madrid. "Tommy Robredo, Carlos Moya and Juan Carlos Ferrero are all talented. And the Spanish crowds are as boisterous as any South American tennis fans I've seen."

This month's Madrid Masters is the penultimate in the 2005 ATP Masters Series, the tier below the major grand slams. It'll be played on GreenSet, a type of hard court surface that should suit big-hitting baseliners. The previous three winners have been Marat Safin, Andre Agassi and Ferrero.

Aussie Brad Drewett, a former player who now works for the ATP, is also a fan of left-hander Nadal. He says the Mallorcan-born star, who was brought up playing on clay courts, should have no problem adapting to Madrid's surface.

"Rafael has already won on Montreal's hard court surface at the ATP Masters in August," Drewett points out, before adding, "However, right now [Roger] Federer is still clearly number one, but Nadal's improvement is rapid and they're developing a great rivalry."

"If fit, Safin, Andy Roddick and Lleyton Hewitt could do well," tips Drewett, "but with his all-court game developing, and playing in Spain, Nadal is definitely one of the favourites." Aidan Ormond ■

Designs on the past

It's like botox for buildings when The History Channel set out to save our heritage

The tales of the people who came before us are told through the buildings they left behind. Now in Australia there's a renewed interest in preserving our architectural legacy, and it's documented in Revival: Saving Our History, a locally produced series hosted by Steve Liebmann.

The series' writer, director and co-producer, Roger Clarke, is a history buff with an obvious passion for his work. "The move to preserve our heritage buildings in Australia, I believe, has never been stronger," says Clarke. Revival, he says, is about the restoration and the re-use of these structures. The program looks at the meticulous restoration of several heritage buildings, such as the sprawling South Australian homestead North Bundaleer.

"It was built by a fellow called George Maslin," explains Clarke, "who was one of the great South Australian pastoralists. These were men who had very, very large holdings of land... and they had amassed a lot of money."

North Bundaleer, he adds, "is a bit of a cocktail of architectural styles – it's late Victorian with a little bit of early Federation mixed up, and it's got little features here and there which make it distinctive in its own right".

"What they did was build these great ornate homes from which they governed the run that they used as their pastoral property. The buildings became a centrepiece for their kind of dynasty."

The North Bundaleer homestead in SA was reborn with its new look.

North Bundaleer is a very good example of this; it has a ballroom, it became a social centre. The building itself is an expression of the family – that's why it's so ornate."

Completed in 1901, North Bundaleer had fallen into a state of disrepair. Restoration work began in 1999 and involved the rediscovery of certain artisan skills from the past.

North Bundaleer is now a private home but is open to guests – if you can afford it. Clarke himself spent a night there. "It's six-star accommodation," he says. Expensive and exquisite."

LifeStyle Channel health tip #1:

Watch what you eat

That's the message from The LifeStyle Channel in October. Food and wine lovers are treated to a feast of programs guaranteed to leave you salivating at your TV screens.

Why? Because The LifeStyle Channel has christened October "Food and Wine Month", and has prepared a menu that caters to all tastes. Food, whether as an indulgence, a pleasure or even an art form, brings richness to our lives and goes to the heart of every culture.

The menu includes the premiere series Heat in the Kitchen, which profiles three dedicated chefs, including Matthew Kemp of Balzac restaurant (left).

And if anyone is up for seconds, LifeStyle FOOD is open 24 hours a day.

Re-plugged

Unplugged has been in hibernation but Alicia Keys revives the series with a passionate performance. Keys unveils two new songs and gets some help from famous friends like Maroon 5's Adam Levine. Unplugged: Alicia Keys screens October 4 at 7pm on MTV.

Southern exposure

South Park fanatics will be in seventh heaven with this 40-episode marathon. But these aren't just any South Park shows (not that there's anything wrong with that) – this is the Top 40 as voted by viewers. Catch Kenny and company on October 2 and 3 from 11am on THE COMEDY CHANNEL.

Oh, darlin'

Breaking up ain't so hard to do, not if you have a little country comfort. 30 Best Break Up Songs are tales of romantic pain with a country twist from the likes of Dolly Parton, Keith Urban and Kasey Chambers. The special premieres October 1 at 12pm on Country Music Channel.

Shooting stars

Ten wannabes compete in The Starlet, a reality series that aims to discover the next Nicole Kidman or Julia Roberts. But first they have to get past screen legend Faye Dunaway. The prize is a TV role; the penalty is an honest appraisal from the judges. And chief judge Ms Dunaway is merciless. The Starlet premieres October 2 at 9.30pm and continues Sundays on ARENA TV.

Acting up

There's reality TV and then there's this: a reality TV show about reality TV stars. Get that? Real people from The Apprentice, Survivor and other reality hang-outs try to make a horror flick. Be afraid. Be very afraid. Kill Reality screens on E!, Mondays at 9.30pm.

To the MAX

See why Xavier Rudd is being tipped as the next big thing with this special performance filmed for The MAX Sessions earlier this year. It's one of the last MAX Sessions with Paul Hester as host. Xavier Rudd: The MAX Sessions premieres October 15 at 5.30pm on MAX.

The Hoff rides again

You can never really get enough of The Hoff. Not only is the man himself visiting Australia this month, but TV1 also gets into the action with the Hoff-A-Thon. Join David Hasselhoff and his conversational super-car, Kit, on the retro classic Knight Rider. A movie version was announced this year, but until that hits the screen, catch triple episodes of Knight Rider every Saturday from October 8 at 6.30pm.

IN & OUT

Yikes, it's Halloween! Creep out with classic frighteners like The Fearless Vampire Killers, Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde and The Haunting. Find a hand to hold and tune in to TCM, October 30 & 31.

Racing car drivers and motor enthusiasts rate the new model cars, so get your motor running on BBC

The Biography Channel fleshes out just what it takes to become a supermodel in the Australian premiere of Models: The Real Skinny on October 15 at 8.30pm. Makeovers, crash diets, expensive portfolios and dodgy agencies are all exposed in this inside look into an industry with an insatiable appetite for the next big thing.

There's another world within our world – one with some 200 million bugs (some of which are pictured right). Find out all about them on Bug Attack! National Geographic Channel, Wednesdays at 7.30pm.

She-Ra, that powerhouse princess (and He-Man's long-lost twin!) returns to television this month. Tune in to Cartoon Network weeknights at 10pm for She-Ra: Princess of Power, from October 31.

Switched on

NICK Jr. (D 703)

For the really young 'uns, before they grow up into the full-blown, slimed-out world of Nickelodeon, there's Nick Jr., the channel that caters to preschool-aged kids.

Learn: Big and bright, Nick Jr. does more than just keep your kids entertained... a lot more. Sourcing the best programs from around the world, it offers high-quality TV for preschoolers, featuring stars like Australia's first Sesame Street character, Ollie. He's four-and-a-half, bright yellow, and leads kids on a daily journey of exploration and discovery.

Laugh: Education doesn't have to be dry and boring. Kids can learn and have fun at the same time with shows that stimulate, educate, involve and excite developing, enquiring minds.

Log on: For the grown-ups, check out www.nickjr.com.au for expert advice and great articles on parenting.

It used to take forever for kids to get to Mars.

Did you know, a slow internet connection is the pain in every budding astronaut's life? It's the only thing holding some kids back from exploring the universe. BigPond® Broadband however, lets kids travel at much greater speeds. It can give them a head start when it comes to doing their homework.

BIG INFORMATION

Kids consume information at a very fast rate. Given the chance, they'll soak up just about anything: television; magazines; song lyrics; rude jokes from the playground; and even the odd swear word. But with BigPond Broadband they'll have instant access to an endless supply of knowledge, so there's more of a chance they'll soak up that instead. No wonder it's been called the most powerful education tool available.

BIG ADVANTAGE

And because broadband can be up to 50 times faster than a standard 56.kbps dial-up connection when downloading,* they can find all the information they need sooner and spend less time searching.

BIG EXPLORATION

It's never been easier for them to explore the depths of space or dive with a Great White shark. They can even enter a French kids' chat room to brush up on their language skills. Suddenly, learning becomes less of a chore.

BIG SECURITY

Connect with us and you'll also get the parental control to help make sure their imagination doesn't run too far. When you join, you'll get free network-based spam and virus filtering, with the option of beefing up security with extra protection anytime you need. And as BigPond is part of Telstra, you can always rely on us being around tomorrow.

BIG HELP

Should any problems arise, the big difference is that our team of technical experts will be on call 24 hours a day.

BIG VALUE

Plus, with low installation costs and a range of monthly fee options, there's never been a better time to get connected.

PLANS START FROM

200MB PER MONTH FOR 12 MONTHS
ONCE INSTALLED

BIG FUTURE

So before they graduate to staying out late, give them the chance to explore from home. It's just one small step to BigPond Broadband but one giant leap for your kids' education.

Anger management

WWE wrestlers Victoria and Rob Van Dam catch up with Annette Basile during their trip to Oz

WWE stars Rob Van Dam and Victoria say anger isn't a major component of their general make-up. But probe deeper and you'll find things are a little more complicated...

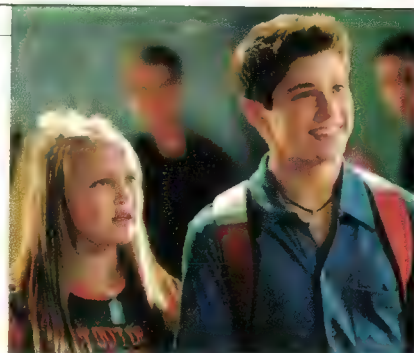

For Victoria, wrestling is therapy. "I don't pent up my anger but I do work myself up to be angry before I go out," she says. "I really do get pumped up and go 'She's mine!' I say a little prayer so I don't get hurt. I get really angry but I don't have a lot of anger.

Maybe it comes out in the match (laughs)."

Van Dam, however, says he doesn't use anger as a motivation. "That's actually caused me some problems with WWE," he adds. "When I first got there they tried so hard to make me angry because they thought I needed that... Before I'd go out, they would say, 'Rob, just act like I just hit on your wife.' I wanted to deck him right there..."

Van Dam and Victoria are in Australia for the WWE RAW Survivor Series Tour. In the flesh, Van Dam looks every square inch the wrestler, but Victoria is glossily elegant and feminine. WWE wrestlers have a hardcore following and a kind of rock star appeal. But there is a gender divide. "It's a man's sport and we try to prove that we can do it too," says Victoria. "In our business, with our age, we don't last as long... It's tough because there's maybe only three girls on the road at a time. And I don't travel with my enemies."

Back to the future

Phil of the Future's Ricky Ullman talks up the new series, which returns to Disney Channel this month

What's coming up in the new series?

There's a lot. Tia (Brenda Song) and Debbie (Kay Panabaker) are no longer in the show and we start to see a shift in Phil and Keely's (Alyson Michalka) relationship that possibly foreshadows a romantic relationship between us.

Your character Phil travels back in time. If you had a time machine, would you want to visit the past or the future?

I'd love to go to the past... It'd be so cool to visit the Renaissance, as long as your head wasn't chopped off. Visit, you know, the Stone Age or anything like that.

If you weren't an actor, what do you think you'd be doing now?

I grew up around the corner from the local fire station. And every day after school I'd go visit, and I knew all the firefighters' names. For my birthday they actually gave me a ride on the fire truck. So yeah, that's the backup job.

10th BIRTHDAY ISSUE

FOXTEL's awesomely big birthday adventure

FOXTEL celebrates a decade on air with a very special one-hour birthday bash on October 23. Everyone's invited! Nathan Micó asks FOXTEL's Executive Director Television and Marketing, Brian Walsh, to hit rewind and look back at the first 10 years of subscription television

© Twentieth Century Fox Film Corporation. The Simpsons appears on FOX8

TV has come a long way since its first broadcast. Brian Walsh, FOXTEL's Executive Director Television and Marketing, has a telling story about the evolution of television from dinosaur to digital. "I do remember this when I was 10. I had a fascination with television and I used to sit in the living room and get cellophane and stick it in front of the TV – which was black and white – and imagine what colour would be like. How could I imagine this many years later I'd be programming a service for Australians with over 120 channels with interactive and digital technology."

The milestone is particularly special to Walsh, part of the executive team behind FOXTEL's debut, and witness to "extraordinary changes" throughout the first 10-year run. In the early days, the greatest challenge for FOXTEL was securing strong programming because the free-to-air networks had already secured the majority of international programming with multi-million-dollar deals.

"Those first few years we were screening a lot of repeat material. But as we've grown and built our network of relationships, we've secured an impressive line-up of first-run exclusive content. The same goes with stars; we had to approach players that had successful careers on commercial television and woo them across to FOXTEL."

On October 23, FOXTEL kicks up its heels in a one-hour retrospective covering FOXTEL's first decade: the programming milestones and the stars whose careers were launched on subscription television, some of which appear on the next few pages.

InFashion flashback

Not many people would know that FOXTEL gave Hugh Jackman his start in TV presenting. In 1997, he appeared on InFashion with Melissa Hoyer. "I co-hosted with Hugh Jackman – who I consequently made a huge star," jokes Hoyer, now a presenter on ARENA TV. Since then Jackman has gone on to become an established Hollywood star and award-winning stage performer, as well as the face of FOXTEL.

1995

It was the same year that Amazon first sold books online, Hollywood legend Ginger Rogers died, Bridget Jones was brought to life in a British newspaper column, Sony demonstrated a flat-screen TV, Divine Brown raised Hugh Grant's profile and millions tuned in as the not guilty verdict was read out in the OJ Simpson case (no relation to Bart). Bart Simpson was at the forefront of the "I want my FOXTEL" ad campaign, with Hollywood diva Joan Collins starring at the Brisbane launch and Linda Gray joining the party in Adelaide. The original line-up featured 20 channels: ABN, Arena, BBC World, Cartoon Network, CMT, CNBS Asia, CNN, Discovery, Encore, EPG, FOX, FOXTEL Weather, FX, Nickelodeon, Premier Sports, Red, Showtime, TNT, TV1 and World Movies.

1996

Microsoft Explorer 3.0 was released, Pauline Hanson was elected as the member for Oxley, and the Spice Girls' debut single meant they were no longer Wannabe pop stars. What wasn't to celebrate? Mike

Hammond, David Dixon (left, from Indecent Obsession) and Maynard

F# Crabbs got the party started for FOXTEL's live Australia Day telecast; guests of honour were Robert Wagner and Stephanie Powers. Fergie (above) gave a royal welcome to new channels in FOXTEL's Entertainment Plus: FX, FXM, Fox Soap, Fox Travel, FOX History, FOX Talk. FOX Sports appeared and Joanna Lumley broke out the bubbly to give UKTV an Absolutely Fabulous start. A hilarious TV career began when Rove McManus hit a funny bone with the launch of THE COMEDY CHANNEL.

1997

Perth gets in on the FOXTEL action at around the same time that spam becomes known as something other than ham, and an IBM computer beats chess master Garry Kasparov. Savage Garden storms the charts, while Super League creates a storm. Before the year ends, Sky News would report live from the Thredbo disaster (left), and FOXTEL would welcome National Geographic Channel and The LifeStyle Channel into its family alongside Channel [V], formerly known as Red. ARENA TV launched The Hub, and in doing so the television career of Tony Squires. With the X-Files phenomenon in full swing, FOX8 invited Gillian Anderson (left, with furry pal) to Australia, where she was mobbed by fans. Gianni Versace and Princess Diana die just weeks apart and Ellen DeGeneres becomes the first openly gay woman on a sitcom.

1998

An online news site first breaks news of the Clinton-Lewinsky affair, and the world is in shock following Geri Halliwell's split from the Spice Girls. The nine-year run of Seinfeld comes to an end, as does impotence, when Viagra is approved for sale. It's also a big year for FOXTEL, with 300,000 subscribers tuning in to The Big Day Out on Channel [V] and the addition of FOX News, The History Channel and Antenna RAI to the family line-up. New series include The LifeStyle Channel's Life Changes with Richard Zachariah as well as the first locally produced series from National Geographic. John Laws returns to the television screen with Laws. FOX8's NRL Saturday begins and Jamie Durie (far right) stars in Dig This, a series of five-minute segments that catch the eye of Don Burke – the rest is history. Luis (right) from Nick Jr. is born. By the time he is six years old, his Cooking for Kids with Luis program will win two ASTRA awards.

1999

Andrew Jonas Günsberg trims his name – but not the hair – when he and Paula McGrath front Channel [V]’s By Demand (above), while The LifeStyle Channel’s By Design unleashes the channel’s secret weapon in the cut-throat world of landscape gardening: Brendan Moar. FOX SPORTS added World Cup Rugby and World Cup Cricket to its schedule, plus every game of the NRL live. Before the massive year is over the human population surpasses 6 billion, panic surrounding the Y2K bug sets in and Hey Hey It’s Saturday is shown the door after 28 years on air. Australians vote in favour of keeping the British Queen as head of state; director Stanley Kubrik (Clockwork Orange, Dr Strangelove) dies, Britney Spears hit it big with “Baby One More Time” and there wasn’t a dry eye in the house with the premiere of Titanic.

2000

More than 8.2 billion emails are sent. The cast of Friends negotiate $750,000 an episode and Peanuts creator Charles Shultz dies. Cathy Freeman lit the flame at the Sydney Olympics and won gold in the 400-metre sprint; Dawn and Barry were volunteers, though we’d have to wait until 2004 for their debut on THE COMEDY CHANNEL. For FOXTEL subscribers the Sydney Olympics will be remembered as the birthplace of The Super Simpsons Weekend. James Mathison and Yumi Stynes make the grade in a nationwide VJ search on Channel [V] and FOX8 takes centre stage for Premiere with Antonia Kidman. The History Channel broadcasts 24/7, Maggie Tabberer relaunches FX – For Women and new channels Music Max, Fashion TV and Fox Classics are switched on. ## Lessons learned

Of course, a decade of hits means there are bound to be misses. Here, Brian Walsh talks about the three that got away.

SHARK BAY One of the first shows we produced, Shark Bay was a dramedy – a combination drama and comedy – that was a send-up of soap operas and ran for five minutes each day. I believe it was ahead of its time; Australians weren’t ready to see their soaps sent up the way Shark Bay did.

CHAIN REACTION This was a game show with Mieke Buchan about four years ago and again, it was too soon for viewers to catch on.

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST We revived a show that has been a TV institution since the ’60s when we gave it a new Beast with Stan Zemanek. The miss was Doug Mulray as the Beast. It was an experiment that backfired.

“Dad, thanks to TV, I can’t remember what happened eight minutes ago. No, really, it’s a serious problem. Ha, ha, ha! What are we laughing about?”

Bart Simpson

Bart mania

The Super Simpsons marathons have become part of the weekend tradition, like reading the Sunday papers, says Walsh.

“We pioneered three hours of The Simpsons programming on weekends and it’s become one of our highest-rating blocks of television, week in and week out. ‘Rockstar’; NCIS is another massive hit, a real surprise, along with Australia’s Next Top Model, of which Erika Heynatz is working on series two as we speak.”

New York's heartbreak:

2001

"It's not TV... it's FOXTEL" was the theme of a new ad campaign, with FOXTEL clocking up 750,000 subscribers. Neil Perry serves up the first series of Food Source, HOME premiered and iPods were released into the marketplace. September 11 changed the world; Hollywood's golden couple, Tom Cruise and Nicole Kidman, divorced. The Williams sisters, Serena and Venus, faced off centre court at the US Open finals – Venus won. Sex and the City carries its Emmy for Outstanding Comedy Series home in a Kelly bag. Gladiator puts in a strong showing at the Oscars and The Producers wins 12 Tony Awards. Nat Geo scores its highest ratings ever since joining FOXTEL with the global television event Pearl Harbour: Legacy Of Attack.

2002

AFL fans score big time with the launch of FOX FOOTY Channel, while ARENA TV makes John Edward a household name in this world and the next. Chain Reaction gets no reaction until it's dumped. Aussies hit by terror with the hotel bombing in Bali. George's singing aunt Rosemary Clooney dies and comedian Spike Milligan also has his last laugh. The ACCC approves a shared content deal between FOXTEL and Optus, just in time for The Osbournes on MTV. Foxtel hits a landmark 785,000 subscribers.

2003

Antonia Kidman goes large with The Little Things, The LifeStyle Channel sprouts Moar Gardening and Paul McDermott asks the nation to 'fess up in a national survey, Am I Good in Bed? FOXTEL announces construction of a digital campus that will take subscription television to a new level. The space shuttle Columbia breaks up. Johnny Depp gets an Oscar nod for Pirates of the Caribbean, screen legend Katharine Hepburn dies and Delta Goodrem's year is bittersweet: she is diagnosed with Hodgkin's disease and her album Innocent Eyes lands on top of the charts both here and overseas.

Remember when...

Deadwood meant "coarse woody debris" and not "coarse language".

Kate Fischer (below), Marcus Graham and Sophie Lee had a stint introducing Saturday Night Live on ARENA TV.

Ovation helped out the theatrical world by screening The Helpmann Awards.

Disney Channel's Dan and Amber said goodbye to Studio D, and shared a kiss – in Dan's dreams.

Jerry Seinfeld hosted the world's first ever marathon of all 180

Seinfeld episodes in TV1's "Yadda yadda yadda, a marathon about nothing" in October 2001.

ISSUE

2004

The digital revolution begins in March with Hugh Jackman, 130 channels and a new-look magazine to go with it (right). John Howard elects to launch Sky News Active Parliamentary Channel (above), digital subscribers get SPORTS ACTIVE and Regurgitator spends three weeks locked up with Jabba in Band in the Bubble. Voting goes interactive at the Nickelodeon Kids' Choice Awards and Sky News polls. Closed captioning is in sight and Nat Geo discovers a national treasure in Matt Young. Lil' Red (above) pushes people's buttons, it's Crunch time for W and Australia falls in love with Claudia Karvan and co. from Love My Way. "Our Mary" becomes a princess, JLo ditches Ben and Jet grabs headlines with the debut album Get Born. Everything is put into perspective when a tsunami devastates Asia and kills more than 270,000.

2005

Runway success:
Australia's Next Top Model

Schapelle Corby gets 20 years, Kylie Minogue tells the world she has cancer and Jessica Simpson discovers you don't need boots to wash a car. The Hoff trades in cult for cool and TV1 sends 146 Franny Trannies – plus Jimeoin – to march in the Mardi Gras parade. Crime Investigation Channel and Aurora Community Television launch, the Australian Film Radio and Television School introduces a course on subscription TV, FOXTEL iQ wins big points and SPORTS ACTIVE gets really active with rugby and Super 12. Sir Bob comes back with Live8 and reality takes a new turn with Amish in the City, Rockstar: INXS and Animal Planet's King of the Jungle.

Andrew G, Hugh Jackman, Erika Heynatz, Jason Dundas and James Mathison

BEYOND 2005

Brian Walsh answers some burning questions

Where do you see FOXTEL in another 10 years?

Television viewing will become more portable. If I was predicting, I'd say I'd be able to watch FOXTEL on any number of applications, whether a hand-held device or travelling on a plane or train.

What's happening with Ian Thorpe and FOXTEL?

He was very keen to develop a television career where he could involve himself in the kind of show that he currently couldn't see on TV.

What's in store on FOXTEL in 2006?

There's a second series of Australia's Next Top Model and Love My Way. We've commissioned a new variety show for THE COMEDY CHANNEL.

Entourage, a massive hit in the States, is coming to ARENA TV, and Australian Celebrity Poker is on FOX8, so it's an exciting time. We're doing our new variety show, The Man Show, out of studios in Brisbane and we've got a major project earmarked for Adelaide.

How did you spend your 10th birthday?

Pulling a billycart around the backyard of my family home in Sydney... I'm sure pin the tail on the donkey was there somewhere.

“... there are more flies than I have ever encountered in my life... but then the sun goes down, I don't know where they go but they are all invited and you don't see them again until the next day!”

A space-themed comedy set in the Australian outback sounds out of this world, but a close encounter on the set of UKTV's Supernova proves that a cross-culture comedy such as this holds universal appeal in the cosmos, reports Nathan Micó

Out of this world: Rob Brydon, Kat Stewart and Damion Hunter

Broken Hill: the final frontier in space exploration and the last place UK comedian Rob Brydon expected to find himself on his first trip to Australia.

Brydon is one of the international connections in the interstellar comedy Supernova, a six-part series that is the result of a combined production between Australia and the UK, and makes its world premiere on UKTV this month.

As astronomer Dr Paul Hamilton – a scientist specialising in gas – Brydon's character makes an impromptu decision to leave behind his routine job, neurotic cat and nagging girlfriend with a passion for wearing Aztec-jewellery... and take up a short-term position at the Royal Australian Observatory.

The pale and hapless star gazer lands with a jolt on the scorching red earth of the you-beaut Aussie outback and into the infinite possibility of a glorious new life. However, it seems that black holes, cosmic stardust and primal gases are far simpler to deal with than the age-old mysteries of love, life and the universe in the Australian outback.

In fact, Hamilton's new home could not be more alien had extraterrestrials themselves abducted the astronomer and whisked him away to live on a planet some billions of light years away.

"It's a fish-out-of-water comedy about this buttoned-up English chap and how he reacts to the hot-blooded Australians," says Brydon. "Before this I knew absolutely nothing about astronomy. I had to learn quite a few long words."

The addition of Welsh-born Brydon to the interstellar series is a major coup for Supernova. The comedian is one of the UK's most sought-after actors with roles on stage and screen that include Human Remains, >>

Base camp ★

The series takes place in the remote New South Wales town of Silverton, near Broken Hill and over 1100km west of Sydney. Silverton has been a goldmine for Australian film makers. It's also been the location of these outback adventures:

- ★ The Adventures of Priscilla, Queen of the Desert (1994)
- ★ Mad Max 2: The Road Warrior (1981)
- ★ Dirty Deeds (2002)
- ★ Razorback (1984)
- ★ A Town Like Alice (1981 TV mini-series)
- ★ Wake in Fright (1971)
- ★ As Time Goes By (1988)
- ★ The Blue Lightning (1986 TV movie)
- ★ The Dirtwater Dynasty (1988 TV mini-series)
- ★ Comrades (1987)
- ★ Fever (1988)
- ★ Golden Soak (1979 TV mini-series)

Shining stars

★ Absolutely Fabulous fans would recognise Helen Lederer (Patsy's work mate Catriona) in the opening scenes of Supernova as Hamilton's nagging girlfriend

★ Also in the first episode is Morgan O'Neill, winner of Project Greenlight Australia, screening on MOVIE EXTRA

★ Aussie actor Craig McLachlan drops in to create havoc in one of the later episodes

I'm Alan Partridge, Marion and Geoff and Cruise of the Gods.

Flying Down Under to film the series, Brydon joins an ensemble cast of well-known Australian actors and emerging talents for the 10-week shoot that includes Kris McQuade, Kat Stewart, Tim Draxl, Peter Kowitz, Damion Hunter and Holly Andrew.

Brydon says, "I hope I would never be as bumbling as Paul, but I can relate to a chap coming out to a new environment. That mirrored my own experience; he was coming to Australia to work with a lot of people he didn't know and so did I."

Had it not been for the role in Supernova, Brydon says it's likely he'd never experience the lucky country at all. During a break in filming at Silverton, it's clear Brydon is taking the obvious change in climate in his stride.

"...it is quite hard with the flies here in the outback - there are more flies than I have ever encountered in my life, they are incredible... but then the sun goes down, I don't know where they go but they are all invited and you don't see them again until the next day!"

The cosmic comedy is a definite team effort: co-produced by UKTV, FOX World Australia and Hartswood Films, the series has been developed, written and produced in Australia, but the British forces behind it are legendary: director Matt Lipsey has helmed Little Britain and

Lenny Henry in Pieces, and the co-producers include Beryl and Sue Vertue. Between the powerhouse mother and daughter producers, the pair are responsible for the television shows Mr

Bean, Men Behaving Badly, Coupling and The Vicar of Dibley.

With the series preparing to launch

Written in the stars

Meet the motley crew of scientists who welcome Dr Paul Hamilton (front left) into their make-do family at the research facility

1. Professor Pip Cartwright

(Kris McQuade)

The no-nonsense head of the observatory, who loves a beer and is loved by all because she's fair, kind and tough, and carries a riding crop. She's also in an open relationship with the town mechanic.

2. Dr Rachel Mann (Kat Stewart)

Ambitious, attractive and never sweaty - not even in the middle of the desert - Dr Mann is the centre of Dr Paul's universe when he arrives in the Aussie outback. But the sexy scientist is already attached to a pathologically jealous astronaut, currently on a mission in space.

3. Professor Mike French

(Tim Draxl)

A child prodigy with the highest IQ of the scientists (and the lowest emotional maturity too).

4. Jude Wardlaw (Hollie Andrew)

The most "normal" scientist at the base, but her head is up in the stars. Wardlaw often shares insights into life through her belief in astrology and reincarnation.

5. Max (Peter Kowitz)

Head tech at the laboratory and rather unnerving for Hamilton. Likes to be addressed as Captain.

6. Bill (Damion Hunter)

The town mechanic (and Professor Pip's other half) becomes "spiritual advisor" to Dr Paul.

Bill gives

for its world premiere in October, the million dollar question for producers is, will the Brits "get" Australian humour in the combined production? And vice versa.

The answer lies in part with scriptwriter Harry Cripps, who tackled the challenge of fusing British and Australian humour into the completed script: "At one point [one of the Australian characters] says 'I could use a feed'. It's not a term we would ever use in England so half the audience won't know it. But if you anglicised everything and took out all the Australianisms, then what's the point?"

David Taylor, executive producer on Supernova, adds, "As far as an original Australian series for the BBC [this is the first]. We're hoping it's the start of bigger things but it all comes down to whether or not we're delivering what we promised. If we do that, we're a shoo-in."

Similarly, Chief Executive of UKTV Tony Iffland has high hopes for the series, "Supernova really does fulfil what we've always wanted to do with our Australian dramas – to find a naturally occurring Australian storyline, which links the UK and Australia. It's not your stereotypical look at outback Australia, it's a real look."

■ Supernova premieres October 10 at 9pm on UKTV (Ch. 20, D 103)

Blow for blow

Former sex symbol Warren Beatty dated many women until his wife, actress Annette Bening, came along. He's been an inspiration to many males, but perhaps none has taken Beatty as seriously as Jonathan Antin has.

Not only is Antin a devoted ladies' man, but his career path was decided on the basis of a 1975 Beatty movie. Yes, Jonathan Antin is a hairstylist, just like Warren Beatty's footloose character, George Roundy, from the romantic comedy Shampoo.

Blow Out, a new unscripted reality show, follows the fashionable Antin on his mission to establish a new salon in cut-throat Beverly Hills, the so-called beauty capital of the world, a place filled with gloss, goss and glamour.

Blessed with charisma and chiselled good looks, Antin is also loaded with attitude – attitude developed while toying with the locks of stars like Madonna, Kate Bosworth, Kirsten Dunst, Ricky Martin and Tobey Maguire.

Celebrity-laced Beverly Hills can make or break a hairdresser, so Antin has to be careful whom he hires. One potential employee is Nicole, but Antin's more interested in practising his Beatty moves on her than discussing employment conditions.

Big egos and big hair... Setting up a hair shop in Beverly Hills was never going to be easy.

■ Blow Out starts on Saturdays at 7.30pm from October 15 on A&E TV (Ch 22-D 106)

Cut and dried

Tommy, rag, trade to riches

There's a dash of Donald Trump in the stylish Tommy Hilfiger. We talk to the fashion guru about reality and The Cut

Iconic design mogul Tommy Hilfiger does a Donald Trump when he hosts his own reality series, The Cut, and goes in search of the next great American designer. Sixteen style-savvy contestants face a series of gruelling assignments that test their talent, business acumen and fashion IQ. There's a lot at stake, with the winner receiving US$250,000 (AUD$333,000) and a one-year contract with Tommy Hilfiger Incorporated to design their own label.

What were some of the biggest challenges for the contestants?

They were real fashion world challenges that tested their talent, but it was also much more what I call FAME – F is for fashion, A is for art, M is for music and E is for entertainment.

Did the contestants bond or were they very competitive?

Interestingly enough, all of the contestants would always point to the person that they thought was the loser, and they were very backstabbing and catty in many cases.

Were there any romantic liaisons amongst the 16 contestants?

There was a bit of it but I think they were pretty coy and covered it up, although it did surface. It was secretive. You'll see it as you watch the episodes but it's who you would least expect. I think you'll be amazed.

“FAME – F is for fashion, A is for art, M is for music and E is for entertainment”

than just fashion design they had to pull off. It was about mirroring my success and my history in basically creating and developing a global lifestyle brand, because I started with $150 and 20 pairs of jeans and built a $5 billion empire as a result of that. I think some of them found out that it was maybe more challenging than they had originally anticipated.

What did you ask from your contestants?

Everything from designing for celebrities to painting jets, to coming up with their own photo ad campaign and finding a photographer and model to go shoot it. It's complete involvement in the pop culture world, which is based upon

What do you think of the comparison to Donald Trump in The Apprentice?

I really believe my show is about all pop culture, music, Hollywood, fashion, creativity, and that makes it very unique. The Apprentice is much different than that because it's limited to business and money. We are really digging into the culture in a very unusual way and some of it goes way beyond just designing clothes. I've really had to put on many different hats in the time I've spent building this brand over 20 years, from architect to purveyor of antiques and everything else, and I'm looking for someone with the amount of talent and tenacity to be able to join my team.

Self-made heroes

Today's entrepreneurs come in a surprising array of packages. Penny McLeod talks to Mimco's Amanda Briskin about what it takes to succeed in the current business world

In just over two decades, the face of success has changed dramatically in Australia. After the fall of Alan Bond and Christopher Skase in the 1980s, we saw the rise of the savvy, baby-faced dotcom tycoons of the '90s. Now, Mimco founder Amanda Briskin is at the forefront of a new generation featured this month in The Entrepreneurs, a locally produced six-part series that screens exclusively on The Biography Channel.

The documentary series offers a rare insight into the personal lives of 14 self-made Australians, whose businesses are experiencing rapid growth and are contemporary in nature.

Briskin, whose handbags, hair accessories, jewellery and knitwear are sold in department stores and boutiques worldwide, found the filmmaking process uncomfortably revealing.

"This is not something I would do naturally," she admits. "Looking at photos of yourself and talking about yourself seems at times uncomfortably self-indulgent... [But] I think

"From a young age, she doesn't remember playing with toys. She remembers being obsessed with dress-ups and playing with her mother's jewellery. Mimco is the largest accessories brand in Australia, and they have a very unique way of merchandising their product. She gets that from her mother, who used to display her jewellery on a board."

Fashion designer Jayson Brunsdon, another self-starter featured in the series, was also "hugely inspired" by his mother.

Domeyko is quite the entrepreneur herself; she became a franchisee of the successful Boost fruit juice chain when she was just 25. From an early age she was fascinated by stories of self-made millionaires. She cites Richard Branson's autobiography, Losing My Virginity, as a particular inspiration.

She says The Entrepreneurs reflects the public's love of both biographical and entrepreneurial success stories. What's more, it aims to foster more of that can-do entrepreneurial spirit in Australia.

"We do have an entrepreneurial culture, but the challenge is in the past. There was a time when 'entrepreneur' was a dirty word. That came out of the period of Bond and Skase..."

"There were role models but people didn't necessarily want to promote themselves as entrepreneurs, because it wasn't necessarily a good thing to be."

Other profiles to be featured include Luke Fryer (of Wagamama restaurants), Napoleon Perdis (Napoleon Cosmetics) and Graeme Wood (Wotif.com).

■ The Entrepreneurs premieres October 30 at 6.30pm on The Biography Channel (D 642)

"There was a time when 'entrepreneur' was a dirty word. That came out of the period of Bond and Skase"

the fact that it makes you actually stop and look back, rather than always looking forward, is really healthy."

Each entrepreneur's story is told through childhood photos, interviews with family members and re-enactments of defining life moments. The profile on Amanda Briskin, which screens in the first episode, was shot at both her home and her business. It draws on family photographs and on interviews with Briskin and her parents.

"Both of Amanda's grandfathers were self-made business people," says the executive producer of the series, Sonia Domeyko.

That changed with Generation X ("for export"), who didn't even entertain the thought of working for someone else, says Domeyko. "They'd come straight out of school or university launching their own business."

Briskin agrees that an entrepreneurial culture is important, but points out that it's not just created by owning or starting a business.

"I think people can work for people and be entrepreneurial... I've got a team of entrepreneurial people, so that culture is fostered here, but we don't all need to own a business to foster that."

Out of Africa?

The rather brainy Spencer Wells wears his genes on his sleeve as he goes in search of our common ancestor

Spencer Wells, 36, 185cm, blond, father of two young girls. He's got a nifty sense of humour and, he says, "the coolest job in the world". Wells, a population geneticist by trade, is National Geographic's Explorer-in-Residence.

His latest and most dazzling project is tracing back human history to, er... one man. Adam, if you like. That's Adam as in the biblical Adam, the putative "first" man that Judaism, Islam and Christianity all agree upon. Sounds improbably sci-fi? Not at all. The unravelling of human DNA has opened up other worlds to us, and one of those worlds is the past. This massive, global project has been launched with Washington-based, Oxford-trained Wells at the helm. It's called the Genographic Project and although it is a collaboration between Wells and National Geographic Society, it's happening thanks to backing by IBM and the American-based philanthropic Waitt Family Foundation.

Given his scientific curiosity and background in genetic studies, it's little wonder that Wells finds the idea of this project intoxicating.

"From the original few thousand people in Africa, we've fanned out across the globe with incredible diversity of language, culture and appearance," he explains. "The essence of the project is to accept the diversity to celebrate the unity. They're two sides of the same coin."

The actual forensics are too technical and dry for most brains to absorb but the outcomes, some years down the track, will have reverberations in every individual's life.

"It's really about relationships," says Wells. "You and your parents share certain DNA markers, which you share with your family and distinguish you from anybody else in the world. You carry markers that you got from your parents and they got from their parents... so what we are doing is just tracing family lines of descent. We want to do this for everybody around the world."

He believes the research will lead to identifying a common ancestor, one who emerged from eastern or southern Africa just a few thousand generations ago. In genetic time, that's very recent.

Biting into the past

National Geographic Channel presenter Matt Young is road-testing the DNA kit. We spoke to Matt about what he hopes to learn from the experience.

New technological developments mean we can trace our DNA back over 40,000 years. Keeping this in mind, we were wondering what you hope to find by using the DNA kit. Do you have any expectations?

Not really. I'm just excited to be able to contribute to such a worthwhile program. Any revelations on the journeys of my ancestors would be fantastic.

is there anyone you would particularly like to be descended from?

I'm really hoping to discover that I have descended from an ancient royal bloodline and that there hasn't been an heir to the throne to claim the mammoth inheritance for several centuries... Yahoo!

Who would you not like to be descended from?

John Doe... boring!

How far back can you trace your family tree?

On my mother's side, the First Fleet. On my father's, we can only trace back to my grandparents, who migrated to Australia from China.

Do you have any special character traits or features that run in your family? Can these characteristics be traced back through past generations?

Flat feet. My father and grandfather both had flat feet as well. Feathers – just joking... Actually, my brother and I both had three front teeth as kids. It was apparently a dormant genetic flaw that would occasionally show up, although my father didn't have it. Not a great look, but it certainly assisted with chewing and it nabbed us an extra dollar from the tooth fairy!!

“What we are doing is just tracing family lines of descent”

Wells makes the idea of taking samples from the entire world population sound simple but, in fact, the logistics are breathtaking. A DNA sample is simply a swab taken from the inside of the mouth, sealed and sent for analysis. This sounds easy enough, but difficulties emerge when the team want the DNA of some of the world's most remote indigenous people. Nonetheless, Wells wouldn't have it any other way: he admits he gets fidgety when he's behind a desk too long.

Sampling indigenous people is a major part of the Genographic Project, because these groups have stayed in one place for many generations and have deep connections to the land. Their traditions and language will also be fed into the database to increase the richness of the historical snapshot.

The other part of the project is sampling: members of the general public will help fill in the gaps in our knowledge of how we developed and diversified as the generations fanned out across the world and away from that original African ancestor.

The project is expected to take 10 years to complete and Search for Adam, the first of several television documentaries to make its Australian TV premiere on National Geographic Channel this month, describes the processes and introduces Wells and the team of scientists responsible.

The project not only went in search of Adam but also searched for Thomas: Thomas Jefferson, that is, the revered founding father and third president of the United States. Although debate continues, DNA evidence seems to prove that Jefferson fathered at least one child with Sally Hemings, a slave in his household. But Wells has discovered something else about the iconic American – Jefferson's ancestry isn't as European as had been assumed. Wells makes the point that looks can deceive. We may all have a common ancestor but as we spread out across the world we developed incredible diversity in every conceivable way.

Wells takes a DNA swab

The Genographic Project is celebrating this diversity while urging us to look at the fundamental unity of humankind. One important aspect of the project has been to set up the Legacy Fund, a system that will enable indigenous people to stay where they are rather than be forced into the contemporary world by circumstances they cannot control. Not as tourist curiosities, Wells is quick to add, but in a situation of dignity and self-respect. Wells would also like the audience to see Search for Adam as a springboard into this vast project.

“I'd like [viewers] to go to the website and find out more about it: what it is we're doing, the tools we use, what we know so far and how they can participate,” he says. “It's an opportunity to be a part of a real-time scientific project. It doesn't happen that often. We read about these things – the Genome Project, the Space Shuttle – and think, well, that's pretty cool, I wish I could be a part of it. Well, in this case you actually can.”

To participate, visit www.nationalgeographic.com/genographic where you can purchase the Public Participation Kit – not only will you be able to trace your ancestry, but you'll also play a part in mapping the world.

THE beast WITHIN

Whether it's genetic or something acquired, Stan Zemanek is back as the Beast in the all-new Beauty and the Beast Live. But panel member Sammy Power is out to prove that Zemanek's just a pussycat at heart, reports Nathan Micó

Radio shock jock Stan Zemanek is back with a revamped Beauty and the Beast, bringing the classic television show forward to a 2005 audience.

The new-look show has undergone a makeover from the Tonight Show school of entertainment: the verbal stoushes and differing points of view that made Beauty and the Beast famous are still firmly in place, but Zemanek says the new format will have more of a variety feel, pumped up with guest performers and new segments that include the Wheel of Glamour, Stan's Soap Box and Stan's Challenges. And it will all be filmed in front of a live audience.

"What I found in my previous version of Beauty and the Beast was that the audience really did want to have their say," says Zemanek. "They were quite outspoken and opinionated, which I haven't seen from previous Australian audiences."

Joining Stan Zemanek each week on the revamped classic are six Beauties, made up of four regular faces and two special guest panellists.

Of the regulars, radio personality Sammy Power is the newest Beauty on the block. Power will take a seat alongside her long-time friend Prue McSween, sports writer and AFL Lovematch presenter Rebecca Wilson and the outrageously over-the-top fashionista Jeanne Little – sans the infamous garbage bag dress (we think).

"I'm really excited about doing the show," says the upbeat Power. "I've known Prue for a long time and she's really taken me under her wing. And Jeanne Little is hilarious: she agrees that my cat is my grandmother incarnated. So we're getting on really well."

As for Zemanek, Power is looking forward to working with her radio colleague, and hints that she hopes to draw out a new side to the tough-talking, testosterone-loaded Zemanek.

"What I like about Stan is he's not smarmy to the girls," she explains. "He has opinions, which are going to be so easy to have a go at, but you can tell he's a bit tongue-in-cheek and that he's a nice person. I think deep down he's a pussycat – and I love cats."

A tale as old as time

With 975 episodes of Beauty and the Beast under his belt, Zemanek is the longest-serving Beast in the history of the show. The first Beauty and the Beast clawed its way onto Australian screens in 1964, with Eric Baume leading the way for a who's who of outspoken Beasts that includes John Laws, Don Lane, Derryn Hinch and Clive Robertson. In 1997 Zemanek signed up to appear in 30 episodes. It was a match made in heaven and Zemanek makes no secret that he's happy to be back in the hot seat.

"It's a great vehicle for me. It allows me to do what I want to do, how I want to do it."

He's equally enthusiastic about getting into debate with the Beauties in the new series.

"We saw in the failed version of Beauty and the Beast... that there were a number of Beauties who didn't have >>

John Laws was a beastly host for the 1982 panel any life experience and were far too young to comment," he says. "They might have been good for eye candy but that's all that they were good for."

"The Beauties that I have selected – and the ones that I haven't announced yet – are ones that have life experience and are passionate about their beliefs and opinions."

So what does Zemanek see as hot issues for 2005?

"Obviously, the present issue in relation to terrorism, not only in this country but worldwide, and the issue of minority groups in this country who try to dictate to the majority what should or shouldn't happen."

As for Power (who won't watch herself on the program because "I think I'm really tall and blonde and 18. I'd say 'Who's that loud redhead!'", behind the laughter is a quest to raise awareness of a number of issues including the rights of single women with careers, divorce and weight. ("I think it's the last form of discrimination that's still allowed today.")

"If someone's taken the time to write in I'd like to give them a good answer, but with humour. I think that's how you can survive through life, a bit of humour no matter what the problem is. So I'll read it and think about it before I give an answer. It will probably be a stupid answer but I'll think about it at least. I hope I'm not thrown off after the first episode!"

The Kylie effect: breast cancer awareness week

Kylie Minogue has boosted breast cancer awareness in Australia to an unprecedented level. Within a fortnight of her diagnosis earlier this year, breast cancer screening increased by an incredible 40 per cent. But for women over 40 years of age who had never been screened before, there was actually a 100 per cent increase in mammogram bookings.

The phenomenon has been dubbed "the Kylie effect". While the pop princess has reached out to other cancer survivors, especially children, her own personal health crisis has helped Australian women to understand that, no matter what age a woman is, it's vital for her to regularly check her breasts for lumps.

Breast cancer is the leading cause of cancer-related deaths among women in Australia, and one in 11 will receive the dreaded diagnosis before she reaches 75.

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month and the message is clear: if a case of cancer is detected in its early stages, the chance of survival is far, far greater.

There is still no cure for breast cancer and no known way to prevent it. Breast cancer awareness and early detection are the only real ways for women to fight this disease.

SCREEN SAVERS

To honour Breast Cancer Awareness Month, a number of programs dealing with this harrowing disease will be screened. These programs cover not only the medical aspects but the personal issues too.

- Breast Cancer Legacy, October 2 at 9pm on Discovery Home & Health (D 640)
- Starting Breast Cancer, October 9 at 9pm on Discovery Home & Health (D 640)
- Breast Cancer and Intimacy, October 16 at 9pm on Discovery Home & Health (D 640)
- I Have Breast Cancer: Jimmie's Journey, October 23 at 9pm on Discovery Home & Health (D 640)

Food & flicks

There are plenty of laughs in the hilarious Barbershop 2: Back in Business, a movie that stars the likes of Ice Cube, Cedric The Entertainer, Sean Patrick Thomas and Queen Latifah. Set in Chicago's South Side, the barbershop must battle a huge corporation attempting to gentrify the area, pushing out the traditional "mom and pop" establishments. This crazy, mixed-up comedy should be enjoyed with a crazy, mixed-up dessert. With fresh strawberry season kicking off this month, we reckon a strawberry trifle is the business. In a large glass bowl, arrange alternate layers of plain sponge cake, custard and fresh strawberries, finishing with a layer of whipped cream and more fruit. For an adult version, soak the sponge in brandy.

■ Premieres October 30 at 8.30pm on MOVIE ONE

The big cheese

There are some delicious offerings in store during The LifeStyle Channel's Food & Wine Month, such as the premiere of the second season of Cheese Slices. The series explores the stories behind the world's most interesting and traditional cheeses. Its presenter, Will Studd, has been at the forefront of specialist cheese in Australia for two decades and here he shares some of his passion.

What makes a good cheese?

Really good quality milk and the passion and skill of the cheese maker. Then there's the maturation end of it and how it's served. Handmade cheese made on the farm or in a small dairy is best.

What cheese should be served on a platter?

I recommend people select one to three cheeses. I'd go for a soft, a blue and a hard cheese.

How should cheese be served?

Don't be scared about temperature; cheese should be served at an ambient temperature. Never serve it straight from the fridge.

Which wine should be served with cheese?

Red wine doesn't actually go with many cheeses because the tannins conflict with the cheese, particularly in a Cabernet Sauvignon or a Shiraz. I recommend a white or a soft, aged red wine.

Are imported cheeses better than Australian cheeses?

The world would be a boring place if we only had French cheese! The important thing about cheese is the flavour, not where it comes from.

■ Cheese Slices - Series 2, from October 24 at 8pm on The LifeStyle Channel

Mum's baked lime cheesecake

100g (1 cup) crushed wholemeal biscuits
55g (½ cup) ground almonds
50g unsalted butter, melted and cooled
800g light cream cheese
185g light sour cream
175g caster (superfine) sugar
4 eggs, plus 2 egg whites
1 tablespoon lime zest
1½ tablespoons lime juice
To serve:
3-4 mangoes

METHOD: Preheat the oven to 150°C. Grease a 24cm springform tin and line the base. To make the base, mix together the biscuits, almonds and melted butter and press into the base of the tin, patting down well. Refrigerate for 15 minutes.

To make the filling, beat the cream cheese, sour cream and sugar until light and fluffy. Add the eggs, two at a time, beating well after each addition. Add the lime zest and juice and mix well. Beat the egg whites in a separate bowl until stiff peaks form, then fold into the cream cheese mixture. Pour over the base.

Bake for one hour and 10 minutes on a low rack. (The cheesecake will not be completely set in the centre.) Turn off the oven and leave the cheesecake inside to cool with the door open for 30 minutes. Remove from the oven and leave at room temperature for another two to three hours, until completely cooled. Refrigerate overnight. To remove the cheesecake from the tin, carefully run a hot knife around the outside, then slide off the base of the tin.

Cut the mangoes in half on either side of the stone. Cut the flesh in a cross-cross pattern on each cheek and then push inside out. Serve with the lime cheesecake. Serves 10-12.

In the kitchen with...

NELL SCHOFIELD

As a child, I hated eating... steamed (beyond bland) spinach served up by my friend's mum, producer Margaret Fink

My mum/dad cooks the best... Dad does an amazing glazed ham. Not surprising, being an old ham-bone himself.

My favourite supermarket is... Macro Wholefoods in Bondi Junction. Expensive but irresistible organic taste treats like tamari roasted almonds I can't get enough of... Chris Manfield's laksa paste.

Friends come over to eat my... fish curry or seafood risotto with saffron strands.

When I'm in front of the TV, I eat... a vegetarian pizza.

My worst cooking disaster was... an undercooked chocolate torte; raw egg whites, sloppy choccie... you get the picture!

I always stock my fridge with... organic milk and Murrumbooe lime cordial from Bellingen (I'm a hippy at heart).

If I had to live on one cuisine it would be... Thai.

Renowned writer, reviewer and presenter Leo Schofield's relationship with food can be traced back to a little country pub

Long before red duck curry became a fashionable mainstay on today's menus, Leo Schofield's mother was currying ducks for the hungry folks at the Brewarrina Hotel. Leo's family owned and lived in the pub, situated some 800 kilometres north-west of Sydney.

"My earliest memory was my father going to shoot wild duck. Of course, the ducks were peppered with gun shot, so you had to get it out and then you'd need something to mask its rather wild flavour – so mum would curry them," says Leo.

Leo's mother and his Aunt Nell – after whom his eldest daughter is named – prepared breakfast, lunch and dinner for the hotel's guests. While he picked up the basics of cooking from his family, it wasn't until Leo turned 18 that his love affair with food really blossomed. "I was in the National Service in the air force," he says, "and we had pretty basic food there, so when I came down to Sydney on weekends, I'd eat things that were a little bit different. I even thought salad was exotic in those days!"

Leo's first official cooking lessons came from a Frenchman living in Australia called Henri Renault, who started one of the first French restaurants here, called Hermitage. It was Henri who taught Leo the techniques and the basics of French cuisine.

While Leo loved to cook, it was his turn as a food writer and restaurant reviewer that put him on Australia's culinary map. It's a role that happened quite by accident.

"I was asked to write a column in The Sunday Australian. It worked very well. It was supposed to be an occasional piece and I ended up supplying reviews every week for endless years," Leo muses.

Stints at The Sunday Telegraph and The Sydney Morning Herald followed, before Leo landed the job of editing The Good Food Guide. He still writes regularly for The Bulletin and Gourmet Traveller, a role he thoroughly relishes. "In one way or another, food writing gives you the feeling that you are helping educate," he says. "I love the idea that you can get people turned on to the same things you are."

Sally Bowrey from The Weather Channel reveals her holiday hot spots

What is your favorite summer holiday destination and why?

It would have to be Asia, whether it's Thailand, Bali, whatever. I just love the spicy mix of culture, food and deliciously warm temperatures.

Do you check the weather forecast before you go on holiday?

Of course! I went to Paris earlier this year, and I was using Weather Active on The Weather Channel for a week praying that the early European spring temperatures would warm up.

Do you back the weather forecast or do you pack for all contingencies?

It's not that I don't trust the weather forecast. It's more a case that I don't trust myself. I seem to change at least three times a day when on holiday.

What is your favorite hotel/resort in the world?

The Ibah in Ubud. It's a beautiful luxury boutique nestled in the lush mountains in Bali. Once you enter the moss-covered walls you never want to leave... and then you get the bill.

What is your favorite hotel/resort in Australia?

Cable Beach resort in Broome, for the sunset drinks alone.

The best bathroom you've seen was at...

Taman Wana in Bali. The bathroom is completely outdoors. It's bliss soaking in the huge bath. Just you and 1000 creatures humming in the tree tops.

Do you relax on holiday or do you keep checking out the cloud formations?

After waking up at the crack of dawn to do morning weather, you have to send a doctor to check my pulse. But I do check out the clouds, as I lie on my back sunbaking at the pool.

Do the Right Thing
is a dynamic
exposure of racism

Along with the archetypal
Hollywood
Westerns
and dramas,
FOX Classics
presenter

Bill Collins urges viewers to consider a confronting early work from Spike Lee

You'll enjoy Jubal (October 22, 8.30pm on FOX Classics). Paul I. Wellman's novel Jubal Troop was first published in 1939, and after years of speculation and attempts to get a viable screenplay from the fiction, director Delmer Daves managed to work an immensely entertaining, psychological Western melodrama from the book. Glenn Ford plays the title role with strong conflict along the way from three movie giants – Ernest Borgnine, Rod Steiger and Charles Bronson – and lusty female Valerie French. Jubal has the sure-fire ingredients – sex, Western action and great locations.

Directed by Fred Zinnemann, The Search (October 8, 10.35pm on TCM) is the story of a Czech boy, separated from his family in a concentration camp, who wanders through war-devastated Europe looking for his mother, while his mother searches for him. It was made entirely in Europe in 1947 and Zinnemann's approach almost turns the search into a documentary. The authentic backgrounds, the use of non-professional players and the serious, unsensational studies of war's legacy make it a harrowing experience. Equally moving for their sincere characterisations are Aline MacMahon as the emotionally drained UN worker, Ivan Jandl as the boy, and singer Jarmila Novotna as the mother – their reunion will stagger you. Montgomery Clift and Wendell Corey are the GIs whose lives are unexpectedly touched by a small child's quest.

In words and images Henry King's film David and Bathsheba (October 15, 8.30pm on FOX Classics) is a superior film experience drawn from the Old Testament. There is cogent human drama in the portrayals by Gregory Peck and Susan Hayward. Highly recommended.

It would be unthinkable to make a film of Ray Bradbury's collection of stories, The Illustrated Man (October 2 at 8.30pm on TCM), but director Jack Smight had an admirable try at doing just that to three Bradbury stories in this film. Rod Steiger plays the title role, the man whose body is almost covered with weird tattoos with a story going with each of them. The film plays around with fantasy, science-fiction and allegory. The images and the ideas are not always effective but they are nearly always fascinating.

Vincent Sherman's The Hard Way (October 14, 10.35pm on TCM) is a terrific Warner Brothers drama. Ida Lupino is in top form in this emotional drama about a hard-edged woman who exploits her younger sister's talents to give them both escape from a dreary existence.

I want to tell everyone to see Spike Lee's Do the Right Thing (October 28, 8.30pm on SHOWTIME). While I am certain that some people will loathe it (a few will be over the top about the incessant bad language), those mature viewers who get into synch with the movie will be excited, provoked and fired by a firm resolve to see it again.

I loved Do the Right Thing, a thrilling two-hour movie experience more confronting than many daring movies. It's set during one extremely hot day and evening in summer in a multi-racial community in New York. This movie is fun but Lee, through an accumulation of explosive and incendiary scenes, is leading us towards tragedy, towards extreme violence and a chaotic act of revenge. Do the Right Thing is a dynamic exposure of the stupidity, ugliness and tragedy of racism. Give this film a chance to win you over. It's entertainment fired with irresistible black power and imagination.

A black and white photograph of Hilary Swank and Chad Lowe in a boxing ring. Hilary Swank is in the foreground, wearing a white tank top and a green jacket, looking intensely at the camera. Chad Lowe is behind her, also in a green jacket, looking off to the side. The background is dark and out of focus, suggesting a crowd in a arena.

"After Boys Don't Cry I thought I was going to get a lot of quality pictures – then I realised that there's just not a lot out there"

Sparring role

Hilary Swank fought her way to a second Oscar win for Million Dollar Baby. But it took a lot of preparation – and punches – to get there

Hilary Swank made Oscar history as the youngest ever double winner. She won her first Academy Award five years ago for her gender-bending role as Brandon Teena in Boys Don't Cry. And now, the 30-year-old actress has a matching bookend for her star turn as a boxer in Million Dollar Baby.

During this interview, she transforms from self-assured woman to giggly schoolgirl in moments when asked how she feels about joining the ranks of multi-Oscar winning women like Vivien Leigh, Ingrid Bergman and Meryl Streep. "I'm a little bit in awe and speechless that my name's mentioned with those names," she says. "It makes me feel really good."

Swank and her husband, Chad Lowe (brother of actor Rob Lowe), share their $4 million New York townhouse with an ever-increasing number of pets. "I love animals," says Swank.

"We have two birds, two dogs and an African grey. I have scars from that one as the bird bonds with just one person – me!" Where Hilary goes, the animals follow: "I take all my animals with me – all the airlines know me!"

And back home in the city that never sleeps? "New York City has allowed me to become more of myself. In other places I lived I felt so segregated, but in New York it is such a mix and everyone is so close by. I love people. That's why I became an actor, to tell people's stories. I feel like I've grown up there, I became a woman there."

Conversation switches from East Coast to West. Swank recounts her lessons in the realities of Hollywood: "After Boys Don't Cry I thought I was going to get a lot of quality pictures – then I realised that there's just not a lot out there." There were misfires like the limp costume drama The Affair of the Necklace and the sci-fi silliness

The SpongeBob SquarePants Movie

■ From October 6, screens every 30 minutes on FOXTEL Box Office (D 901-927) SpongeBob (for those who haven't yet made the acquaintance) is a yellow sponge who lives inside a pineapple under the sea. SpongeBob and his starfish mate Patrick are on a mission to rescue King Neptune's crown and save their home town, Bikini Bottom. But the real star is David "The Hoff" Hasselhoff, who's made the jump from daggy TV star to cult figure and steals the show in the film's best sequence. SpongeBob's surreal brand of humor has proved as popular with adults as kids.

To Be and To Have (Être et Avoir)

■ October 30 & 31, 8.30pm on WORLD MOVIES (Ch. 42, D 410) A runaway success in its native France and a surprise hit here in 2004. Spanning an academic year in a one-teacher school in France's rural Auvergne region, it's a documentary that is much greater than its ingredients. A small story about a little school, director Nicholas Philibert manages to capture something illusive and delicate about the nature of childhood and the importance of teaching.

De-Lovely

■ From October 27, screens every 180 minutes on FOXTEL Box Office (D 901-927) Kevin Kline has a way of conveying sexual ambiguity that's suited to a portrayal of Cole Porter. Porter's bisexuality is almost as important as his music in this movie, and as you get to know Porter's life story, lyrics like "It's too darned hot" take on a whole new meaning. The film is framed as a stage show with an elderly Porter looking on and commenting on the action. Robbie Williams, Alanis Morissette and others interpret Porter's songs with varying degrees of success.

of The Core. But this outspoken actress is quick to defend her choices: "I follow my gut because in the end that's all you have. I shied away from playing just 'the girl' roles because I didn't find them inspiring."

She is quite philosophical about her success: "I never thought I would win an Oscar. I took the role in Boys Don't Cry because I thought it was an important role, not because I thought it was Oscar material. All I cared about was the story." And she feels the same way about her work in Clint Eastwood's masterful retelling of Rocky, set in the world of women's boxing. "Three of this year's five best films don't even have a female lead. I resigned myself to thinking maybe once in 25 years will I get a challenge like that, and after only five years it came. I pinch myself every day."

For that role, she says she "trained for four hours a day, six days a week, for four months".

"They wanted me to put on 10 pounds (4.5kg) but, being the crazy person I am, I put on 20! I was eating 225 grams of protein a day – that meant waking up at night to drink egg whites."

What was it like to be punched? "It hurts at the time but there is such adrenaline that it is really only the next day that you realise how much it hurts!" Doing all her own fight scenes, she admits she got her share of bruises, but as she guffaws, "my only serious injury came when I got hurt wrestling with my dog between takes."

Yet this physical training was only part of her preparation for the part – she also reviewed her old movies. As she explains, "I never really took any acting classes, so a lot of my learning was watching myself, seeing what worked and what didn't work."

All her hard work shows on the screen and even Eastwood, a strict taskmaster, was impressed with her dedication. "She's the best," he says. "She's absolutely charming, and she's the most real person you'll ever meet – what you see is what you get."

■ BETRAYED

October 27, 8.30pm on HALLMARK

There is a drop of truth in this story about a town suffering from an outbreak of severe water contamination. The story is based on real events in Welland, Ontario, in 2000.

■ SEED OF CHUCKY

Every 30 minutes from October 6 on FOXTEL Box Office

Jennifer Tilly wanted to lose weight to play herself in the movie, so she and writer Don Mancini inserted "fat jokes" into the script, just in case she didn't make it.

■ AGENT CODY BANKS 2:

DESTINATION LONDON

October 2, 8.30pm on MOVIE ONE
Frankie Muniz underwent two months of mental arts training to reprise this role.

■ AUTUMN SPRING (BABÍ LÉTO)

October 9, 8.30pm on WORLD MOVIES

The title of this Czech film translates as 'Indian Summer' in English, but with the title already used in Western films, the distributors adapted the film to its current name.

■ HOLES

October 3, 6pm, Disney Channel
Something you might not know about Sigourney Weaver, who plays villainous

Warden Walker in this Disney movie, is that she is a major fan of Ennuiem: "I like Ennuiem. I think he's an amazing poet," she says.

■ THE LIBRARIAN: QUEST FOR THE SPEAR

October 11, 8.30pm on MOVIE ONE
Noah Wyle is a librarian on the hunt for a magical spear stolen from his collection of artefacts that includes the golden fleece, Excalibur, Adam and Eve's apple, and the goose that laid the golden egg.

Suddenly 30

■ October 9, 8.30pm on SHOWTIME (Ch. 3, D 401)

Alias's Jennifer Garner stars in a gender-reversal of Tom Hanks' Big. On her 13th birthday Jenna exclaims "I wanna be 30 and flirty and thriving!" and with the aid of some "magic dust", she's the editor of her favourite fashion glossy in NYC. Garner's oddly convincing as a gawky 13-year-old inhabiting a 30-year-old body. Lots of '80s hits add to this charming yet light-as-soufflé comedy.

Jennifer Garner has a midlife crisis at 13

The Life and Death of Peter Sellers

■ From October 13, screens every 60 minutes on FOXTEL Box Office (D 901-927)

Hardly a flattering biopic. According to this film Peter Sellers was a philandering egocentric with a mother complex. Geoffrey Rush is excellent as Sellers, but the script veers towards cliché, and doesn't go beyond the common perception of Sellers as a flawed comic genius. John Lithgow is great as Blake Edwards, the director who slid a little further down the ladder with Sellers every time a Pink Panther movie came out.

Taking Lives

■ October 16, 8.30 on MOVIE ONE (Ch. 29, D 411)

We know the US is full of serial killers, but Canada too? She of the humungous lips, Angelina Jolie, goes over the border to help find one in Montreal, a murderer who does nasty things to people before stealing their identity. It feels a lot like Se7en: gory murders, the killer with the psycho logic and lots of dimly lit interiors. Hard to make an original serial killer film these days, but Taking Lives is a solid flick with a good cast. If you get bored you can always gaze in wonder at Ange's lips. Emrys Hughes

Comedian Dave O'Neil shares the tricks of the trade on the eve of the *World Comedy Tour 2005

To get a laugh, Dave O'Neil's two-year-old son Jasper puts a washing basket on his head. Fortunately, comedian and Melbourne's Nova 100 breakfast show host O'Neil has a more sophisticated approach to eliciting laughs, and it will be put to the test this month before an international audience in the World Comedy Tour 2005.

The annual television event, seen over three big nights on THE COMEDY CHANNEL and hosted by Cameron Knight, showcases the world's funniest as they entertain audiences in America, England and Australia. O'Neil and comedians like Adam Hills, Tripod and Lee Mack are given two 10-minute, televised gigs – one for Australia, the other for America and England.

The comedians need to cater for different national audiences and tastes. The Americans, says O'Neil, like straightforward humour that deals with relationships, the English like "off the wall" humour, while Australians are somewhere in between.

"My work might confuse Americans but the Brits generally get it.

"I tend to talk to the audience a lot but it doesn't come across that well on TV. So basically you've got to get up there and deliver your jokes and tell your stories," says O'Neil, whose humour combines social and political commentary with tales from his own experience.

He says Australians like a bit of honesty in their comedy at the moment. So when O'Neil discusses politics, he relates it back to daily life.

"I say, 'John Howard says we should stay in Iraq and finish the job. He says that's the Australian way. Well, he's obviously never hired a tradesman.'"

O'Neil is an accomplished writer and actor whose credits include films like The Nugget, Takeaway and sketch comedy shows such as Totally Full Frontal and The Big Schmoose, but his current focus is on radio, stand-up comedy and being a dad.

"My son Jasper – that's my biggest project. He tries jokes on me. He's a bloody comedian."

This week's highlights
1-7 OCTOBER

World Comedy Tour 2005

■ October 1, 8 & 15 at 7pm on THE COMEDY CHANNEL (Ch. 25, D 120)

Back for another year of laugh-out-loud hilarity, the World Comedy Tour will have you in stitches with the funniest stand-up comics from Australia, Ireland, America and the UK. Comedians like Adam Hills, Dave O'Neil (left), Tripod and Lee Mack were each given just 10 minutes to win over the crowd with their funny business, and their best moments are captured in these three specials hosted by Cameron Knight.

■ Million Dollar Baby
October 6 on FOXTEL BOX OFFICE (D 901-927)

A-grade talents Clint Eastwood, Hilary Swank and Morgan Freeman star in this powerful tale of a determined woman who wants to realise her boxing dreams. As Maggie Fitzgerald, Swank wins over cynical boxing trainer Frankie Dunn (Eastwood) to become his pupil, but there are other, more serious battles ahead. Directed by the legendary Eastwood, Million Dollar Baby cleaned up at the 2005 Oscars.

■ Unplugged: Alicia Keys
October 4 at 7pm on MTV (Ch. 45, D 808)
Alicia headlines an all-new Unplugged, which makes a long overdue and welcome return to the MTV screen this month. Keys will serenade fans with new renditions of songs from her two mega-selling studio albums, along with two new tracks ("Stolen Moments" and "Unbreakable"), all stripped back and without any special effects in classic Unplugged style. Joining in on the fun are some of Keys' famous friends, including Maroon 5's singer/guitarist, Adam Levine.

■ The Starlet
From October 2 at 9.30pm on ARENA TV (Ch. 22, D105)
"Don't call us, we'll call you." With that chilling kiss-off line, legendary actress Faye Dunaway will strip a group of 10 wannabe stars down to one ultimate winner. Over the coming weeks these beautiful, talented hopefuls will be put through an intense movie-star boot camp of acting classes, live performances, screen test and brutally honest reviews. They're all living in a house once owned by Marilyn Monroe, but only one of them will win a shot at stardom.

■ Phil of the Future
October 3 at 6pm on DISNEY CHANNEL (Ch. 27, D 707)
It's a long way between centuries. Just ask Phil (Ricky Ullman). The teenager and his family – plus Curtis, the stowaway caveman – are from the year 2121 and find themselves trapped in the comparatively primitive year of 2004. Attending a regular 21st-century high school, Phil keeps his futuristic identity hidden, and only Keely (Alyson Michalka) is in on the secret. With great characters and magical 22nd-century gadgets, this funny, clever Disney series has already attracted a strong local following.

Also this week:

■ The SpongeBob SquarePants Movie, October 6 on FOXTEL Box Office (D 901-927)
■ Australian Snowboard Championships, October 1 at 9pm on FUEL (D 513)
■ Cartoon Network's Hero Awards, October 7 at 2pm on Cartoon Network (Ch. 28, D 710)

■ Fabulous Life: Desperate Housewives, October 5 at 11pm on VH1 (D 810)
■ Scenes of Crime, from October 6 at 7pm on Crime & Investigation Network (D 648)
■ Stevo, October 6 at 5pm, Channel [V] (Ch. 43, D 801)
■ Top Gear, new episodes from October 1 at 7.30pm on BBC World (Ch. 37, D 604)

On Today Predator's Prey

This show explores the relationship between the hunter and the hunted, shedding light on the inner workings of the animal kingdom. The interactions between predator and prey provide a fascinating portal into evolution as intuitive and counter-intuitive characteristics have developed over time as part of an arsenal of innate survival tactics. Be they evasion, deception or plain and simple cunning, these skills and instincts mean the difference between life and death. In this episode we take a look at animals born with senses far beyond the grasp of humans. We examine the predatory instincts of bats, long-range subsonic communication between elephants as well as the amazing natural instincts of salmon, which use an incredible sense of smell to find their way back upstream to lay their eggs.

On Today MegaMan NT Warrior: Axxess

It is a testament to the influence of the video game market that many of today's hottest toy and cartoon properties are based on game characters. MegaMan is one of these, joining a list that includes Donkey Kong, Mario Bros, Pokémon and even Frogger! The latest incarnation of MegaMan (who first appeared on screens in 1995) is MegaMan NT Warrior, an anime inspired series based on the MegaMan Battle Network game. Set in a future where all computers are hooked up to a core network, the series follows the adventures of schoolboy Lan and his NetNavi (or Net Navigator) MegaMan as they battle to protect the Net from being taken over by evil organisations set on world domination. In this episode, an elevator that turns into a robot captures Lan and his friends, who must escape to retrieve stolen video game data.

On Today Presidio Med

Set in a medical centre located in San Francisco, this medical drama series follows the highs and lows of a group of physicians who feel that the world of medicine is becoming too clinical and are devoted to forming trusting, long-term relationships with their patients. Written and produced by the creators of ER and with a stellar ensemble cast including Blythe Danner (Meet The Fockers) and Sasha Alexander (NCIS), this series stands as a compelling, warm and at times humorous entry into the medical drama genre. In this episode, Dr Rae Brennan (Emmy Award-winning actress Dana Delaney) diagnoses a nine-year-old girl with possible terminal leukaemia. When the treatments don't appear to work, Rae finds herself turning toward the handsome and brooding Dr Nicholas Kokoris (Oded Fehr).

WEATHER ACTIVE

Weather Active on The Weather Channel means that you don't have to waste time waiting for the weather report because you control when and what weather information you need to plan ahead. All you have to do is press the red button on your remote control.

Using the menu, navigate with your remote control and you'll instantly know what the weather's doing anywhere in Australia. You will also find up-to-date information on any warnings, and the weather stats of the day, including temperature, relative humidity, current wind direction and speed and rainfall.

Got Pets?
You'll Need
a PET VAX!

Pet Vax has been developed for homes where pets have access to indoor areas and family motor vehicles.

Australian made, this multi-function vacuum cleaner with full wash facility takes care of all pet mishaps including excreta, stools, vomit, urine, fur and hair deposits.

Pet Vax provides:

- a total clean up of all pet mess, regardless if it's wet or dry
- thorough and hygienic wash actions to rid pet smells and reduce stains
- a clean, fresh smelling, stain free, home and vehicle environment

No dry only vacuum cleaner can perform these tasks as efficiently or hygienically as Pet Vax

Phone VAXCARE 1300 36 4040

On Today The Woody Woodpecker Show

Enter the wacky and just-a-little-more-than-a-little-bit insane world of Woody Woodpecker. Woody is an impulsive, highly-strung and totally off-the-wall woodpecker whose trademark is his staccato "ha-ha-ha-HA-ha" laugh. His screwball family includes the overachieving Winnie Woodpecker, Woody's protégé nephew Knothead, and Splinter, Woody's energetic and destructive niece. His friends, cohorts and antagonists include the straight-laced Wally Walrus, the thuggish Dapper Denver Dooley, the oh-so self-righteous Ms. Meany and the perpetually shifty Buzz Buzzard among others. Together the gang get themselves wrapped up, enmeshed and embroiled in all sorts of madcap mischief, hijinks and downright insanity. Park yourself squarely in front of the box and catch all the outrageous antics!

This week's highlights 8-14 OCTOBER

■ From October 10 at 9pm on UKTV (Ch. 20, D 103)
A British astronomer finds himself at a remote observatory in the Australian outback with a bunch of eccentric star-gazing Aussies. It's a situation ripe for comedy, but when that astronomer is played by Welsh comedian Rob Brydon (Marion & Geoff, The Keith Barret Show) then the comedic potential doubles. Brydon is Dr Paul Hamilton, a man who escapes his dull existence in London to ponder life, romance and the wonders of the Milky Way in a laugh-out-loud, six-part series.

Supernova

■ The Life and Death of Peter Sellers

October 13 FOXTEL BOX OFFICE (D 901-927)
Geoffrey Rush, one of Australia's most successful acting exports, stars as troubled comic genius Peter Sellers in a biopic that unites style with substance. Rush's portrayal of the English comedian is almost chillingly accurate – so good, in fact, it earned him a Golden Globe. Like Sellers, Rush is a chameleon, and he brings a real empathy to the complex and sometimes cruel Sellers. Oscar-winner Charlize Theron also makes her mark as Sellers' wife, Britt Ekland.

■ The Office Specials

October 8 at 8.30pm on UKTV (Ch. 20, D 103)
The Office is so funny it almost hurts. Featuring the last ever episodes of the hit mockumentary series, The Office Specials revisit David, Gareth, Tim, Dawn and the gang. Will David Brent unleash his inner rock star? Did Tim ever get over Dawn? And Gareth? Now that he's office manager, has the power gone to his head?

■ The Big Bronson Week
October 10-14, 8.30pm on FOX CLASSICS (Ch. 6, D 111)
Director John Huston once famously described him as "a grenade with the pin pulled", so when it comes to the tough guys, former coalminer Charles Bronson is among Hollywood's elite. Action fans will be in televised heaven with five of Bronson's most famous flicks: Battle of the Bulge, Guns for San Sebastian, Once Upon a Time in the West, The Stone Killer and, perhaps his most acclaimed film, Hard Times.

Also this week:

■ Bad Boys, October 10 at 7.30pm on The Biography Channel (D 642)
■ Extreme Cuisine Special – Food as Art, October 9 at 9pm on LifeStyle FOOD (D 116)
■ Savage Earth Week, from October 9 at 7.30pm on National Geographic Channel (Ch. 18, D 632)
■ Suddenly 30, October 9 at 8.30pm on SHOWTIME (Ch. 3, D 401)
■ A League of Their Own, October 14 at 1pm on TV1 (Ch. 1, D 101)
■ Star Trek: Deep Space Nine, now on Mondays from October 10, at 11.20pm on TV1 (Ch. 1, D 101)

■ He Says She Says, October 11 at 9pm on The LifeStyle Channel (Ch. 21, D 106)
There's a metaphor about men being from Mars and women from Venus. Whatever our actual origins, there's certainly a big gulf between male and female, and this intriguing four-part real-life series aims to find out why. Often funny and always fascinating, the series doesn't only look at the problems between men and women but listens to them, too. Some of the people doing the talking include celebrities Clive James, Rick Wakeman and Kathy Lette.

On Today Shark Hunter - The Frank Mundus Story

For some, the very mention of the word "shark" can instil fear and terror, conjuring up images of frighteningly large jaws filled with rows of fetid teeth, the ocean churning at the slightest scent of blood, innocent swimmers streaming from the beach in fear for their lives... Not for Frank "Monster Man" Mundus, the legendary great white shark hunter originally from Long Island, New York, who claims to be the inspiration for the infamous "Captain Quint" from the hit '70s movie Jaws. From the early '50s, when he invented "Monster Fishing", to his capture of a record weighing great white, Mundus' unswerving passion for catching sharks stretches a whopping half-century. Now retired, the ex-fisherman turned conservationist gears up for a final shark adventure: aiding researchers in a dangerous study.

On Today The Stone Killer

Charles Bronson is in top form as laconic tough guy Lou Torrey, a New York detective who shoots first and asks questions later. The suspects aren't talking by then, though, and police department prejudice forces Torrey to Los Angeles where he uncovers a payback plot which ageing Mafia don Alberto Vescari (Martin Balsam) has been stewing over for 40 years. Vescari has recruited a team of Vietnam veterans to simultaneously kill the perpetrators of a 1931 massacre of Sicilian Mafiosi. Torrey senses he's on to something big, but will he discover the secret desert boot camp before his investigation ends the hard way? The tension doesn't let up, the stunts are brilliantly orchestrated and Bronson never wastes a word when action will speak louder in this shoot 'em up, car chase-driven offering.

FOXTEL BOX OFFICE

Missing out on the big movies and special events is a thing of the past because your remote control is your own personal gateway to FOXTEL Box Office. Ordering a FOXTEL Box Office program is easier than buying a ticket to the movies. All you need to do is press "Box Office" on your remote control, find the program you wish to view on the listings screen and press "select". You can now order from the comfort of your chair! You'll need to provide the popcorn, though!

Programs listed in Eastern standard time
DIGITAL AND/OR SATELLITE SUBSCRIBERS
 Adelaide viewers subtract 30 minutes and WA viewers 2 hours from ALL program times.
ANALOGUE CABLE SUBSCRIBERS
 Where the red clock appears at the top of a column, please note: Adelaide viewers subtract 30 minutes and WA viewers 2 hours from program times.

This week's highlights 15-21 OCTOBER

■ Xavier Rudd, The MAX Sessions, October 15 at 5.30pm on MAX (Ch. 44, D 805)
Victorian boy Xavier Rudd has left audiences gob-smacked and awe-inspired with his own peculiar take on the concept of the one-man band. On stage, the multi-instrumentalist and singer-songwriter is surrounded by guitars, percussion and most famously, didgeridoos. Recorded at Sydney's Centennial Park, this MAX Session is one of the last to be hosted by the late Crowded House drummer, Paul Hester.

Xavier Rudd: THE MAX SESSIONS

■ How to Be a Property Developer, October 19, 8.30pm on The LifeStyle Channel (Ch. 21, D 106)
This series uncovers the reality of real estate. Two couples are each given a whopping £250,000 (AUD$597,000) to play the property market. Their aim? To make as much money as they can. How To Be a Property Developer tails the couples as they play the real estate market. What with buying, selling and renovating, this housing project will take nine months. And the winner takes all!

■ Trust, October 19, 9.30pm on UKTV (Ch. 20, D 103)
This acclaimed British law drama gets right to the nitty gritty of human nature. Described by one newspaper as the UK's answer to The West Wing, it's a series that has the qualities usually associated with the finest Brit TV: exceptional acting and cleverly written scripts. Set in a busy corporate law firm, Trust follows the office wheeling and dealing, then what these intense characters get up to after the sun goes down. Trust stars Robson Green (Wire in the Blood, Touching Evil and Soldier, Soldier), Sarah Parish (Cutting It and Peak Practice) and Ian McShane (Deadwood and Lovejoy).

■ Lost Crocodiles of the Pharaohs, October 20 at 8.30pm on Animal Planet (Ch. 15, D 634)
It has been thought that Nile crocodiles were hunted to extinction in the 18th century. But recent sightings of crocodiles in unusual locations across Northern Africa have led to speculation that this is not the case. Could these misplaced reptiles be descendants of the Egyptian Pharaoh's sacred crocodiles? If so, how did they survive in the desert when their natural habitat is around waterways? Journey across the Sahara to find out.

■ Camel Crazy, October 19 at 7.30pm on A1 (D 636)
Hayden Turner is camel crazy. A zookeeper at Sydney's Taronga Zoo for 10 years, he once hand-reared a young camel and the pair formed a life-long bond. Since that experience, Turner has dreamed of desert travel with a camel caravan. And it's a dream that has come true for the Australian. Beginning his odyssey from the foothills of the lower Atlas Mountains in Morocco, Hayden and his local guides take the camels through an ancient Sahara trade route. It's a part of North Africa not often seen by outsiders.

On Today The Great Fire

In September 1666, much of London vanished in the Great Fire. Based on new historical evidence and contemporary forensic techniques, this film recreates the drama of the event, and shows how the devastation spread at a frightening pace. Accidental fires were commonplace in 17th century London. The king himself was aware of the danger, imploring the Lord Mayor to "preserve that great and prosperous City from Fire". Ironically, fire finally broke out on the morning of Sunday, September 2 in the king's own bakery in Pudding Lane. The cramped streets, strong east wind and lack of any organised fire brigade enabled the fire to take a swift stranglehold. Over 13,000 houses, 87 churches and the principal landmarks of the city were destroyed during the fire, which raged for over four days.

On Today Without Lying Down

The title of this inspirational film takes its subject from a quote from a forerunner for women working in the film industry, Frances Marion, who stated, "I've spent my life searching for a man to look up to without lying down". This documentary takes a look at the unique character and voice of a woman who became one of the most powerful figures in Hollywood. Her career began in 1915 and spanned four decades. It included over 200 screenplays, an enviable and highly paid position at MGM Studios and two Oscars, awarded for The Big House (1930) and The Champ (1931). Narrated by Uma Thurman and featuring Kathy Bates as the voice of Frances Marion, the film utilises her journals, letters, memoirs and archival footage to present not only her story, but the role and influence that woman had at the birth of film-making.

On Today How To Be A Property Developer

Property prices have risen sharply in many metropolitan areas across the world in the past few years and investing in property is sometimes seen as a sure-fire way to make a quick buck. Property investment is also seen as providing a higher level of security than other, more risky, forms of investment, and has thus become popular not just with the well-heeled but also with the average homebuyer. But is it as easy as it seems?

What should you be looking out for when you go to that auction, flip through a property guide or inspect a house? What are some of the common mistakes that most investors make? Join successful Northern Ireland property tycoon Gary McCausland as he helps two groups of investors climb the investment ladder within the space of a year, as they buy and sell houses.

On Today UEFA Champions League – Matchday Three

The world game comes to ESPN as the best teams in Europe battle it out in the group stages of the UEFA Champions League. The 32 teams in the group stage are split into eight groups of four teams each, and play home and away games against each team in their group. The top two teams of each pool then go into the knockout stage of 16. Can the English teams stamp their authority on the competition and match defending champion Liverpool's spectacular showing last season? Will the Spanish teams entertain their way to the top? Or will the Portuguese surprise their competitors and take the winners' trophy as Porto did in 2004? With the world's best footballers, the riches and spectacle of Europe and the pride of the best European teams at stake, this is one thrilling competition you cannot miss!

On Today A-League Football - Sydney v New Zealand

It's been a long time coming for Australian soccer, but the restructure of the national competition into an eight-team super league is a step in the right direction for a sport that boasts the most players of any sport at a grass roots level but lacks the national support of cricket or AFL. Tonight's match pits competition favourites Sydney FC against the New Zealand Knights, a team given little hope of success at the start of the season.

Coach Pierre Littbarski is the real ace in the Sydney pack. The former German midfielder brings a winning culture to the club, having played in three World Cup finals, including Germany's 1990 Cup-winning side. He has already guided the club to the FIFA Club World Championship in Japan and, with Dwight Yorke promising plenty of razzle-dazzle, Sydney should be too strong for the Knights.

■ 7.30pm on FOX Sports 1 (Ch. 11, D 501)

■ The Entrepreneurs
From October 30 at 6.30pm
on The Biography Channel
(D 642)

Local young hot shots are the focus of this six-part Australian documentary series that examines 14 entrepreneurs from the worlds of food, fashion, franchises and e-business. It's not all about business; it's about the people, their achievements, how they got there and where they are yet to go. The entrepreneurs include Amanda Briskin of Mimco accessories, designer Jayson Brunson (left), Napoleon Perdis of Napoleon Cosmetics and Diana Williams of Fernwood Fitness Centres.

■ The ARIA Awards, LIVE from the Red Carpet

October 23 at 5pm on CHANNEL [V] (Ch. 43, D 801)

There's something special and unique about Australian music, and the ARIA Awards honour the makers of those magic sounds. With coverage starting right there on the red carpet, Oz rockers will talk to Andrew G, James, Yumi, Maya and Danny before going inside to find out exactly who walks away with one of those pointy little statuettes. Then tune in at 5.30pm on October 24 for backstage interviews.

■ Crime Investigation Australia, Series 3

From October 26 at 7.30pm on Crime & Investigation Network (D 648)

Some crimes are so shocking that they literally stop a nation – crimes like the extortion and murder of renowned Sydney heart surgeon Dr Victor Chang, and the horrific Jane Doe murder. Respected broadcaster Steve Liebmann presents this Australian investigative program that looks into home-grown criminal cases, featuring interviews with the cops, detectives and reporters who were there.

Also this week:

- VMALA, October 25 at 7.30pm, MTV (Ch. 45, D 808)
- World Baking Cup, October 23 at 9pm on LifeStyle FOOD (D 116)
- Living with Wolves, October 23 at 7.30pm on Discovery Channel (Ch. 19, D 630)
- Wimbledon, October 23 at 8.30pm on SHOWTIME (Ch. 3, D 401)

■ Beauty and the Beast Telethon
October 22 at 7.30pm on W (Ch. 23, D 113)

Love him or hate him, can you imagine a more perfect beast than Stan Zemanek? The Beauties may come and go but Stan the man – the resident Beast – is always there. And he's not afraid to let you know his opinions. This fund-raising initiative for breast cancer causes during Pink Ribbon Month will be a taster of the new season, premiering on October 29 at 9.30pm. The latest panel of agony aunts includes Sammy Power, Rebecca Wilson, Prue McSweeney and the irrepressible Jeanne Little.

On Today Little Robots

Pre-schoolers will be entranced by this gang of nifty problem-solving animated robots led by mechanical genius Tiny. The 11 enterprising characters, including the ever-energetic Sporty, exuberant Noisy, bossy Spotty, the twins Sparky One and Sparky Two, teddy-loving Strippy, Stretchy the robot engineer, Messy the robot dog and the vampiric Scary robot are builders and inventors. They pool their skills to build a fantastical world out of the scrap heap where they live. When Tiny is about to pull the lever for daylight and sees that the moon the robots nailed up is about to fall out of the sky, he realises the gang will need to replace it with a new one. With comic talents Lenny Henry, Martin Clunes and Emma Chambers among the actors voicing the characters, this educational animated series is quality entertainment for under-fives.

WEATHER ACTIVE

Weather Active on The Weather Channel means that you don't have to waste time waiting for the weather report because you control when and what weather information you need to plan ahead. All you have to do is press the red button on your remote control.

Using the menu, navigate with your remote control and you'll instantly know what the weather's doing anywhere in Australia. You will also find up-to-date information on any warnings, and the weather stats of the day, including temperature, relative humidity, current wind direction and speed and rainfall.

On Today Major League Baseball – World Series Game 3

One year ago, the Boston Red Sox made history, reversing the "Curse of the Bambino" and winning their first World Series in 86 years by sweeping the St Louis Cardinals in four games. Both teams are poised to once again challenge for the title. However, they face strong competition from the Chicago White Sox, Atlanta Braves, and Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim. Can Curt Schilling and David Ortiz once again bring the title home to Fenway Park to herald a new era of Bostonian baseball domination? Or will the coveted World Series Trophy settle somewhere else? The series that stops a nation and a good portion of the world will deliver the answer to these questions and more as FOX Sports 2 serves up all the action LIVE, from the dugout to the outfield, in Major League Baseball's 2005 World Series.

■ 10.00am on FOX Sports 2 (Ch. 12, D 502)

On Today Elephants of Kilimanjaro

Journey to the highest point in Africa – the Great White Mountain of Tanzania in East Africa – Mount Kilimanjaro, and learn about the gentle elephants that regularly travel up and down the mountain's thick rainforests. These elephants have taken these routes for thousands of years, with skeleton remains at 16,000 feet providing proof of the elephants' high ascents. But what drove these elephants to travel so far up these treacherous and steep slopes? And with the growing cultivation of Kilimanjaro's slopes, what will become of them and their unique habitat as they struggle to negotiate the changing terrain? Take part in this adventure and find out the answers to all these questions and more as we walk in the elephants' footsteps up one of nature's greatest wonders.

Digital Hints &amp; Tips

CLOSED CAPTIONING

Closed Captioning is now available to FOXTEL Digital subscribers with access also available to Deaf and hearing impaired subscribers through subtitles on World Movies, plus text-based information on Sky News Active and Sports Active. To activate Closed Captions: press the 'Active' button on your FOXTEL Digital remote; select 'System Settings' from the menu; select

'Picture Settings' from the menu; scroll down and highlight 'Closed Captions'; toggle using your left and right arrow keys to turn captions on or off; press the down arrow to 'Save New Settings' and press select. Then press the FOXTEL button on your remote to return to normal programming. TTY users can contact FOXTEL via the National Relay Service on 133 677.

On Today Halloweentown High

Witches, magic and all things other worldly continue to engage the imagination of children this month on Disney Channel. Debbie Reynolds brings her star power to the third instalment in the successful Halloweentown series of children's movies, playing the matriarch in a family of witches living in Halloweentown. Teenager Marnie is played by Kimberly J Brown in her third reprisal of the role. Ever on the search for adventure, Marnie convinces the Halloweentown Council that a trip to the mortal world with a group of friends is a great idea. A lot is at stake - if anything happens to them, Marnie has agreed to give up her magic. Things don't look positive when the Knight of the Iron Dagger enters the mortal world. Can Marnie save her magic, her friends and the human world?

On Today Supernova

Stitched-up British astronomer Dr Paul Hamilton abandons his London girlfriend and neurotic cat for the job opportunity of his dreams at an observatory in the Australian outback. His dreams, however, didn't include a motley crew of mocking Aussie colleagues and Paul struggles to come to terms with the culture shock of being "out bush down under". As Venus, the planet of love, rises in the night sky, Paul's work mates at the Royal Australian

Observatory make it abundantly clear that they know her romantic light isn't falling across his lonely bed. Paul fights back by inventing a hot connection with a rough-and-tumble bikie chick he met at the local pub. British comic Rob Brydon stars as the Pommy stargazer who's a long way from home in this series about being the butt of a cosmic joke.

Got Pets?
You'll Need
a PET VAX!

Pet Vax has been developed for homes where pets have access to indoor areas and family motor vehicles.

Australian made, this multi-function vacuum cleaner with full wash facility takes care of all pet mishaps including excreta, stools, vomit, urine, fur and hair deposits.

Pet Vax provides:

- a total clean up of all pet mess, regardless if it's wet or dry
- thorough and hygienic wash actions to rid pet smells and reduce stains
- a clean, fresh smelling, stain free, home and vehicle environment

No dry only vacuum cleaner can perform these tasks as efficiently or hygienically as Pet Vax

Terms and conditions

IMPORTANT TV CARE INFORMATION

Do not allow a still image to be displayed on your TV screen for an extended period of time. This can cause a permanent residual image ('burn-in') remaining on your screen. Examples of still images include:

- Channel logos and certain channel formats
- Images displayed in a 4:3, 14:9 and 16:9 mode that are different to your TV set-up
- On-screen information (ie Tickers and Active features) that are part of programmes
- Electronic Programme Guides
- Games and voting features
- Audio channels

Plasma, Rear Projection and LCD televisions are at a higher risk of burn-in. These TVs are more prone to burn-in during the first 200 hours of use. Always consult your TV manufacturer's manual for proper operating instructions.

SUPPLEMENTARY TERMS & CONDITIONS

FOXTEL BOX OFFICE (FBO) (Digital Channels 901-927) AND ADULTS ONLY SELECT (Digital channels 960/961)

FBO movies and Adults Only Select are only available to FOXTEL Digital subscribers. Bookings for FBO movies and Adults Only Select programmes can be accepted via the Digital Remote Control Unit and Set Top Unit or by calling FOXTEL on 1300 783 833. You cannot book by telephone if you are using the FOXTEL IQ. If you are booking via the Digital Remote Control Unit and Set Top Unit, then you must keep a fixed, operational line connected to the FOXTEL Digital Set Top Unit. If you are booking via the Digital Remote Control Unit and Set Top Unit, charges will apply when you switch to the relevant FBO movie or Adults Only Select programme. If you are booking by telephone, charges will apply at the time of booking, even if you do not switch to the relevant FBO movie or Adults Only Select programme. You cannot cancel a FBO movie or Adults Only Select programme if you book by telephone. All FBO movies and Adults Only Select programmes are $5.95. If you subscribe to FOXTEL's Platinum Package, you have two FBO programmes (including Adults Only Select programmes) included in your programming package during each billing cycle. These two FBO programmes do not carry forward and are not redeemable for cash. Adults Only Select programmes are "R" rated and each programme is purchased on a 2 hour pay-per-view basis. Parental lock facility is available.

MAIN EVENT (Analogue Channel 46) If you are not on a direct debit payment, pre-payment will be required for all boxing Events and may be required for other Events at FOXTEL's discretion. Payment will be taken by FOXTEL via your current credit card (if you are a monthly statement customer) or direct debit. Cancellations will only be accepted by 11pm (AEST) on the day prior to the broadcast of the Event. The Events are subject to late changes. FOXTEL reserves the right to cancel one or more of the Event(s) without notice.

MAIN EVENT (Digital channel 928/955) Main Event programmes may be purchased on a pay per view basis. Bookings for Main Event programmes can be accepted via the Digital Remote Control Unit and Set Top Unit or by calling FOXTEL on 1300 783 833. You cannot book by telephone if you are using the FOXTEL IQ. Charges for screenings are set out in the FOXTEL Digital Guide or in the FOXTEL Box Office menu.

Adults Only (Analogue channel 46; Digital channel 955) Programming is rated R and screens from 10.45pm-6am. Parental lock facility available.

ASTRA CODES OF PRACTICE

The Australian Subscription Television and Radio Association (ASTRA) has developed Codes of Practice for subscription television broadcasting and narrowcasting services and the Codes have been registered by the Australian Broadcasting Authority. The Codes set out the obligations for subscription television broadcasting and narrowcasting services in relation to issues such as the classification of programme material and the placement of advertising. Additionally, the Codes provide a framework for the handling of consumer service issues, such as customer complaints and disputes about fault repair and billing. Please call FOXTEL's Customer Solutions Centre on 131 999 if you would like a copy of the Codes.

HEX

ARENA (CH. 22, D 105)

Beverly Hills 90210 meets Charmed with a dash of Buffy. Set in an off-the-beaten-track English school, Hex is supernatural and sexy – and tinted with a decidedly dark shade. Christina Cole is Cassie, a shy teenager who nevertheless possesses spooky powers. Although this is perhaps primarily aimed at the teenager demographic, Hex will be appreciated with anyone for taste for the mysterious.

LONG WAY ROUND – EWAN MCGREGOR

THE LIFESTYLE CHANNEL
(CH. 21, D 106)

Certified spunk and Star Warrior Ewan McGregor and acting mate Charley Boorman take an extraordinary road trip and live to tell the tale in this absorbing documentary series. It's two men, two bikes and 32,000km across Europe, Mongolia, Canada and on to their final destination: New York City. It's a life-altering journey for the motorcycle boys, with the actors encountering everything from gangsters to grizzly bears.

JERRY SPRINGER – THE OPERA

OVATION (CH. 26, D 129)

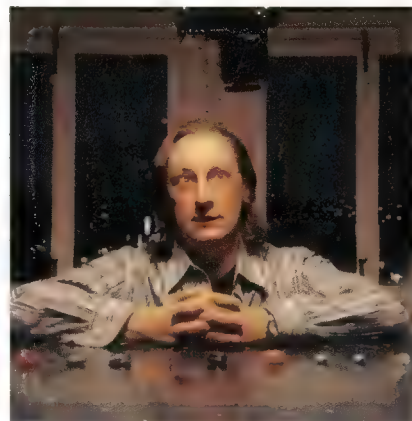

Not for the faint-of-heart or the easily offended. The brash trash talk show host Jerry Springer is the subject of these utterly irreverent operatic moments, which proved a massive hit at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival a couple of years back. Reviewers have been falling over themselves with words like “shocking” “depraved”, “obscene”, “fresh”, “original” and “revolutionary” to describe the performance. The opera uses a typical Springer program as its opening setting, but then the situation takes an unexpected twist when Springer is shot by a former guest on his show. From that point the opera goes to Hell. Literally.

Satirical, hysterical and a very clever commentary on celebrity and society, it stars the original Hutch, David Soul, as Jerry Springer.

All fired up: David Soul talks trash as Jerry Springer

THE FAR SIDE OF THE MOON

WORLD MOVIES (CH. 42, D 410)

French-Canadian director Robert Lepage is incapable of making a ho-hum film. He's known for intriguing and intelligent work like Jesus of Montreal and Polygraph. Lepage not only writes and directs The Far Side of the Moon but stars in it too, playing dual roles of brothers Phillippe and André. Set against the Russian-American space race, the story revolves around Phillippe trying to reconnect with his estranged sibling after the death of their mother. Life, loss and lunar landscapes dominate this imaginative piece of celluloid.

CHANNEL [V] AT SCHOOLIES WEEK ON THE GOLD COAST

CHANNEL [V] (CH. 43, D 801)

See the fun, freedom and frivolity of schoolies unleashed – and all from the safety of your lounge room. Channel [V] heads to the school-leavers hub, the Gold Coast, to document all the party action. As Alice Cooper once famously said, school's out... forever.

TEAM AMERICA: WORLD POLICE

FOXTEL BOX OFFICE (D 901-927)

When a power-hungry dictator sells weapons of mass destruction to terrorists, international police force Team America steps in to save the day. Directed by South Park creators Trey Parker and Matt Stone, this is a cheeky, although contentious, take on world security issues. The use of marionette puppets sets the tone.

HE'S COMING SOUTH

THE HISTORY CHANNEL (CH. 17, D 644)

On Sunday May 31, 1942, three midget Japanese submarines launched a surprise assault on Sydney Harbour. Produced by FOXTEL's History Channel, He's Coming South – The Attack on Sydney Harbour recreates this dramatic and defining moment in Australia's World War II history. Using a full-scale sub replica, live action and computer-generated trickery, this one-hour documentary unravels the myth from the history, and features Australian and Japanese witnesses speaking publicly for the first time.

Keeping House

While Desperate Housewives star Teri Hatcher leads a pretty fabulous life, according to Vh1 and E!, she is also happy being a single mum

As recently as 2004, you were a Hollywood "has been".

Absolutely. I was in a deeply sad place. I wasn't a hot actress anymore and, at 40, not of the perfect age either – and I was recently divorced. I had been a full-time mum for six years and was afraid I wouldn't be able to pay for the mortgage.

Was it hard to overcome the image of Lois Lane?

Before I got Desperate Housewives, I was negotiating to star in a sitcom. People at the network would say, 'Really? Teri Hatcher in a sitcom?'

The perception was that Lois & Clark was a drama. I remember as Lois I fell in mud a lot and had a lot of goop dropped on [me].

Did you consider doing a drama?

I had no interest in sorting through corpses on a crime series. I wanted to have a happy time. It did not appeal to me to do the CSI thing... being offered Desperate Housewives I felt like I had won the lottery.

Do you have any say in what direction your character goes?

I've only said 'no alcoholism and no skin cutting'.

"Not everyone is perfect like Martha Stewart. I'm sort of flawed and kind of nutty and goofy and insecure and messy – more real."

The supermarket tabloids claim there's a lot of feuding between the actresses on the show.

It saddens me that that's what the tabloids choose to grab on to. There are enough goodies in the scripts for everyone so no fights for the best lines.

Do men like the series as much as women?

It's harder to get them to watch it but once they do, they enjoy it.

You won a Best Actress Golden Globe for the role. Where have you put the award?

I gave it to my daughter, who has it on her shelf in her room.

You said in an interview last year that it had been so long since you had sex that you no longer remembered what it was like.

I'm working fairly long hours and I'm looking after my daughter so I don't have that much time to meet guys. But I'm very satisfied with my life. I've begun dating again and I'm in a good place.

What kind of man are you looking for?

Well, I know what I don't want. No actors please...

What is good about turning 40?

I feel more comfortable with myself. I feel more whole as a person. Time has changed. Forty is the new 30.

Are you planning to stay with acting?

I would like to come out with lines of products that help real women's lives.

Not everyone is perfect like Martha Stewart. I'm sort of flawed and kind of nutty and goofy and insecure and messy – more real.
